Moderating trend continues

Inflation reports improve slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose three-tenths of a per cent in October, the government said today. It was the smallest increase in seven months as the nation's inflation rate continued its moderating trend.

The increase in the Consumer Price Index followed a rise of four-tenths of a per cent in September and monthly advances of five-tenths of a per cent during the June-August period.

The Labor Department said October's price increase was the smallest since a two-tenths of a per cent rise last March. Over the past 12 months, retail prices have risen 5.3 per cent, marking the smallest increase since the 12-month period ending in April 1973, when they rose 5.1 per cent.

In a separate report, the department said the purchasing power of the average worker's paycheck rose last month after declining in August and September.

Today's economic reports were bright spots in an otherwise bleak picture of high unemployment and slow economic growth.

Wholesale industrial prices, which are influential in setting the over-all inflation trend, have been rising steadily since May. However, these higher wholesale prices have not yet shown at the retail level.

In October, the consumer price index stood at 173.3, meaning that a market basket of goods and services costing $100 in 1967 now costs $173.30. The index is not adjusted to discount seasonal influences, as are the percentage increases.

Alan Greenspan, President Ford's chief economist, tended to discount the wholesale price trend in a speech Thursday to the Rubber Manufacturers Association. He said "There is just no corroborating evidence" to support the idea of a new outburst of inflation.

Greenspan said the long-term inflation rate is slowing down and, in what appeared to be a warning to President-elect Jimmy Carter, predicted that the downward trend will continue if the government reduces its budget deficit by following "sensible fiscal and monetary policies."

Greenspan also acknowledged that the economic slowdown has continued longer than expected, but he said there is no danger of a recession.

Carter has said he may ask for a tax cut if the economy doesn't show more strength by January.

Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board said Thursday that conditions don't appear bad enough at this time to warrant a tax cut to stimulate the economy.

"I see no advantage in a tax cut at the present time," he said in a speech Thursday to the U.S. League of Savings Associations in New York.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported that the economy was even weaker last summer than preliminary estimates indicated.

The Gross National Product, or the total output of goods and services, grew at an annual rate of 3.8 per cent during the July-September quarter. That was lower than the initial estimate last month of a 4 per cent growth rate, the rate generally considered sufficient to keep up with normal population growth.

THE DEADLINE for entering floats or other parade units in the 1976 Christmas parade is Monday, Nov. 22.

Anyone wishing to participate in the parade must notify the Chamber of Commerce by 5 p.m. Monday. . . The float need not be finished or the unit described in detail, but a space must be reserved in the parade lineup. . .

The telephone number at the Chamber office is 335-0761. . .

The Chamber would also like to invite the public to the finals in the parade royalty competition Monday night. . .

Six finalists in each division will appear before the panel of judges at 7 p.m. Monday in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria. . .

THE CHRISTMAS spirit has hit the Carnegie Public Library in Washington C.H. . .

Eric Halverson, library director, said no fines will be assessed on books returned late to the library during the week of November 29-December 4. . .

Halverson said the "fine free" week is really an expression of the Christmas spirit when considering the cost of hardcover books today. . .

When a hardcover book is not returned it costs the library an average of $16.19 per volume, Halverson said. . .

MRS. JEAN King, a third grade teacher at Eastside Elementary School, really believes she has a "winning team" as a class this year. . . She says it isn't a football team or a basketball team, but a "good working for their school" team. . .

In September, the class won the honor of bringing in the most memberships (143) for the Eastside Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization. . . For this, they won a $10 prize. . .

Then during the recent November carnival, the class received the honor of helping to make their room candidate, Joelle Lipscomb, the carnival queen. . . They did this by selling $342.50 worth of raffle tickets, breaking previous school records. . . Each pupil sold tickets, Mrs. King said. . .

"These 29 children are among our future citizens and I feel sure they will make good ones, because of their unselfish efforts in working for their school, and when older, their community," Mrs. King added. . .

Ministrike hits GM; talks resume

DETROIT (AP) — About 80,000 United Auto Workers struck 16 key General Motors plants today as bargainiers, meeting through the night, closed in on a new national contract.

"It was simply a matter of their running out of time," said one source close to the talks. He said the two sides were "very close," adding a settlement could come "within hours."

While the 16 selected plants were idled effective at midnight, about 100 other GM plants across the country continued operating in compliance with orders from the UAW.

Company officials said the walkout could cripple GM's sprawling 21-state production network within a week and industry analysts have said a GM shutdown would also start hurting the U.S. economy in about a week.

Three assembly or body plants in Michigan became the first casualties of the walkout's ripple effect and were to be closed today, some 13,000 workers would be affected by those shutdowns.

The selective, seven-state walkout — concentrated in the Midwest and particularly Michigan — came after after negotiators failed before a midnight deadline to fashion an agreement covering 390,000 hourly GM employees at more than 110 plants.

"The UAW-General Motors contract has expired," UAW President Leonard Woodcock and Vice President Irving Bluestone announced in a brief prepared statement issued to reporters as the strike deadline passed.

Employment of the ministrike strategy by the UAW is a first for the union over a national agreement. It also marks the first time the UAW has waged two major auto strikes in one year since it first won collective bargaining rights in 1937.

A 28-day strike at Ford Motor Co. last month achieved the industry's pattern agreement. A similar pact was ratified with Chrysler Corp. on Wednesday.

Plants initially idled by the selective strike include six assembly plants, six parts plants and four Fisher Body facilities. Seven plants with 47,600 workers are in Michigan. Of the other plants, three were in Ohio, two in Indiana and one each in New York, Georgia, Illinois and Wisconsin.

The last time GM was hit with a nationwide strike was in 1970, when a 67-day UAW strike turned out to be the costliest in American labor history. The walkout exhausted the UAW's $120 million strike fund and forced the union to borrow another $40 million.

The strike fund presently holds $155 million, down from a record $180 million. The fund was depleted a bit by

Prison van overturns

WAVERLY, Ohio (AP) — Inmates being transported from a maximum security prison in Lucasville to a prison hospital in Columbus today produced pistols and attempted to escape from the van carrying them, corrections officials said. The attempt failed.

About four shots were fired by the inmates, from the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility. No one was struck by the shots, officials said.

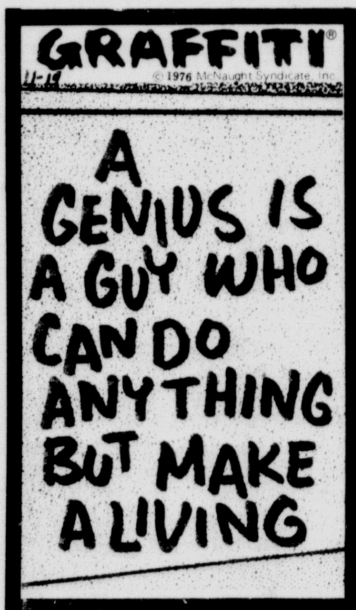

Department spokesman Joseph A. Ashley said nine inmates were aboard the 10-passenger van when two .22-caliber pistols were produced and shots were fired at two guards who were riding in the drivers compartment.

Ashley said one of the bullets partially penetrated the heavy plastic screen separating the two sections of the van.

The driver, Dallas Estep, 49 of Wheelersburg, swung the van into a ditch along U.S. 23, where it overturned about five miles north of here, Ashley said.

Estep and Sgt. Sherman Baisden, 43, of Jackson, got out of the van and summoned help from Pike County sheriff's deputies. Officers surrounded the vehicle and ordered the inmates to toss out their weapons, Ashley said.

The inmates complied and surrendered, Ashley said.

Retired nurse wins lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mae Thompson and her husband, James, will have a little something extra to help them celebrate their 43rd wedding anniversary Nov. 29—a $250,000 prize from the Ohio lottery.

Mrs. Thompson, 65, a retired practical nurse, won the top prize Thursday night in the lottery's Pot O'Gold game.

Asked what she would do with the money, her first thought was for the Betty Rinderie School for retarded children in Sandusky.

"They're doing wonders for those children," said Mrs. Thompson, and she plans to make a donation to the school. She said none of her six children or 11 grandchildren were retarded.

Mrs. Thompson said she knew of the school's work through children who have been educated there and are ready to be on their own because of the training they received.

Her husband, who is 62, is a retired railroad worker and an Air Force veteran.

Judith Hayes of Youngstown won $51,000 in the Double Play game, and Edward Dull of Xenia won $26,000. The $11,000 third prize in Double Play went to Pete Lobay of Cleveland.

Other Pot O'Gold prize winners included David Warner of Toledo, $25,000; Floyd Garrett of Zanesville, $9,800; Annamary Otto, Canton, $10,100; Helen Krempa, Toledo, $10,000, and Raymond Gaier, Ft. Thomas, Ky., $8,500.

Finley resigns from post

Reed new fair board secretary

Elmer N. Reed, 619 Fairway Drive, has been appointed to succeed George Finley as secretary of the Fayette County Agricultural Society (county fair board).

Finley, who has held the post since 1968, announced his retirement as secretary due to health reasons before the November board meeting.

According to Finley, Reed will officially take over the duties as fair board secretary sometime in December. The past-secretary is in the process of discussing the responsibilities and duties of the post with Reed.

"I'm finishing out the annual report that goes to Columbus," Finley said. "He (Reed) will be taking over shortly."

Finley said the secretary's job includes taking care of bookkeeping and financial matters for the fair board and supervising the bookings of the Mahan Building and other Fayette County Fairgrounds property.

The fair board also announced that Norman Schiering would fill the unexpired term of Robert L. Cannon as a board member. Cannon resigned the position after seven years on the board.

The 67-year-old Reed retired from Armo Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H. two years ago. The former industrial engineer spent 30 years with the cor-

Spain set for election

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The ultraconservative parliament that dictator Francisco Franco left behind him has bowed to pressure for democratic reform and cleared the way for Spain's first free elections in 40 years.

The Cortes, or parliament, by a vote of 425 to 59 with 13 abstentions on Thursday approved government legislation abolishing the appointed, one-house legislature and replacing it with an elected, two-house body.

A two-thirds majority was needed for approval, but the winning margin was much greater.

The vote came two days before the first anniversary of Franco's death, on Nov. 20, 1975.

A national referendum will be called to ratify the Cortes' action, and Premier Adolfo Suarez has promised that the new parliament will be elected by next June.

The 44-year-old premier worked out a last-minute compromise with the centrist-rightist Popular Alliance which threatened to abstain on the vote unless plans for distribution of the seats in the lower house by proportional representation were modified.

These critics demanded that proportional representation, in which the seats are allotted in proportion to the total nationwide vote for each party, be replaced by representation according to districts, with each district race decided by a majority vote.

The compromise retains proportional representation as the basic system. But it provides that a party must get a still-undetermined minimum vote to get any seats. And it guarantees a minimum number of representatives — also still undecided — from each of Spain's 50 provinces, regardless of their size.

The lower house of the new parliament will have 350 members. The senate will have 207, four-fifths of them elected by majority vote and one-fifth appointed by King Juan Carlos.

Meanwhile, local newspapers reported that the exiled head of the Communist party, Santiago Carrillo, arrived in Madrid from exile in France.

Carter silent on tax cut plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders who met with President-elect Jimmy Carter did not team up to urge an economy-boosting tax cut and Carter gave no indication of a decision, one of the participants says.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said the problem of stimulating business and reducing unemployment was extensively discussed during the three-hour session Wednesday in Lovejoy, Ga., where Carter met with Democratic leaders.

"I did not detect a unanimity of the leadership concerning a tax cut," Mahon said.

Carter has said that if the economy does not begin improving by January, there is a "strong possibility" that he would ask for a tax cut to stimulate it.

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a fiscal conservative, said he and others told Carter that a major consideration should be restoring business confidence and that Carter appointments would be important in this regard.

"The business community and people generally are uneasy, wondering, apprehensive," Mahon said in an interview Thursday. "If he could get some good strong people for secretary of the Treasury, director of management and budget and secretary of commerce, it would have a stabilizing influence...."

Carter has been receiving conflicting advice as to whether he should support a tax cut, a boost in government spending, or neither.

"He didn't talk like a freewheeling big spender," Mahon said of the Carter meeting. "He talked of a balanced budget over the long range and his desire to eliminate waste, and generally I thought it was a good down-to-earth discussion."

Mahon said Carter gave the congressional visitors his private telephone number and promised that calls at any time would be put through or promptly returned.

"The country is weary of the controversy between the president and Congress," he said. "For the White House and Congress to be of the same party imposes an awesome responsibility on the Democratic leadership. The buck stops with the Democrats."

School tax woes near crisis levels

CHICAGO (AP) — Voter resistance to school tax hikes has grown so strong that schools face severe curtailment of services — or even collapse — unless they get more federal and state assistance, big-city school superintendents say.

"Don't think you can get the cities straightened out if you don't get the schools straightened out," Vincent Reed, superintendent of Washington, D.C., public schools told a meeting of heads of 27 major city school systems here.

The three-day conference of the Council of the Great City Schools, which opened Thursday, was called to develop urban educational priorities that the superintendents hope President-elect Jimmy Carter will adopt. Sam Husk, council executive vice president, said he would like the federal government to add $3 billion to $4 billion to the nearly $5 billion it now pays of the $60-billion annual tab for public education.

Carter has said he favors bolstering federal educational aid by eliminating the ban on using revenue-sharing funds for schools. He also proposed creation of a separate Department of Education.

Speakers at the meeting cited the recent shutdown of several small districts in Ohio and Oregon after voters refused to pass higher tax levies. They also pointed to the struggle of many larger districts to remain solvent.

"It's created a situation in Detroit whereby we have to constantly battle just to keep our heads above water," said that city's school chief, Arthur Jefferson.

He said Detroit voters this month rejected for the second time this year a tax increase that would have brought in an estimated $38 million to the schools.

Jefferson attributed the resistance to massive urban unemployment, the "lost credibility" of schools as test scores plummet and the concentration of the poor and aged in central cities.

William Pearson, governmental relations director of St. Louis public schools, said his district tried at least half a dozen times before finally passing a tax levy last spring.

Denver Supt. Louis Kishkunas said voters in his city routinely have turned down school tax increases, adding that "this year we had to cut $11 million out of our budget because of it."

Legislative bills balked by printer

the problem today, one way or another.

Biggest among the bills that should be on Gov. James A. Rhodes' desk by now are two which give pay raises to officials throughout Ohio's 88 counties and expand an earlier law that implemented charitable bingo.

The others permit the state to sell a condemned building near the Statehouse, and bring state law into conformance with actual practices in the handling of federal revenue sharing funds.

Thomas Winters, clerk of the House, said he was hopeful that the strike at National Graphics would be settled at a meeting scheduled Thursday night and added: "Otherwise, we'll have to look at some alternatives." One alternative he mentioned was sending the bills, along with the Senate Journal for Nov. 9, to another union printer.

But as an afterthought, Winters said he might not be able to give the work to any firm other than National Graphics because of its state contract. "We have a problem," he said. The Senate Journal for the one-day legislative session also got caught in printers' walkout.

John M. McElroy, the governor's top aide on federal revenue sharing programs, said he wasn't sure if legal complications could arise as a result of the bills' effective dates being delayed. But McElroy, an expert on constitutional law, said "there could be." Any part of a new law, including its effective date, could conceivably be challenged, he said, in response to a question.

The dilemma appears to be moot on the county pay raise bill, providing it is signed by the governor by Dec. 31. It carries an immediately effective emergency clause, and in addition, officials getting the raises are barred from receiving hikes until their new terms start the first of next year.

Also carrying an emergency clause is the bill that added certain groups to those already permitted to run bingo games for charity under state attorney general regulation.

The other measures carry regular effective dates—90 days after signing by the governor.

Winters said there is no legal time limit for bills to be handled by the printer except that the contract requires that they be returned within "reasonable time."

Soviets reportedly building jet tanker for fast bombers

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military intelligence specialists believe the Russians are working on a new tanker plane that would enable the Soviet Backfire bomber to strike targets in the United States and return home.

The development could complicate U.S.-Soviet attempts to set new strategic arms ceilings, analysts say. The new tanker, a variant of Russia's big four-engine Il76 commercial cargo plane, may be ready for use by the Soviet Air Force in 10 months, according to U.S. intelligence estimates.

The supersonic Backfire is one of what President Ford last month called "gray area weapons systems" in negotiations toward a new U.S.-Soviet agreement limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

U.S. negotiators want the Backfire included under any new strategic arms limitation talks agreement. The Russians have resisted this, contending the Backfire is not an intercontinental-range weapon.

The Backfire is credited with an unrefueled combat radius of about 3,500 miles. Disagreements in the U.S. intelligence community have centered on whether the Russians intend to use the Backfire as an intercontinental weapon.

But the appearance of a new tanker aircraft likely would be taken as evidence that the Russians plan to build a fleet of tankers and use their refueling capacity to extend the Backfire's range. Then the bomber could reach targets virtually anywhere in the United States — and fly back home.

Air Force Secretary Thomas C. Reed said last summer that "every Backfire we see has a refueling probe on it."

Newark fire fatal to 3

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Three Newark children were killed today in an early morning fire that destroyed a two-story home on the city's east side.

Fire officials said the victims apparently had been sleeping in a second floor room and were overcome by smoke.

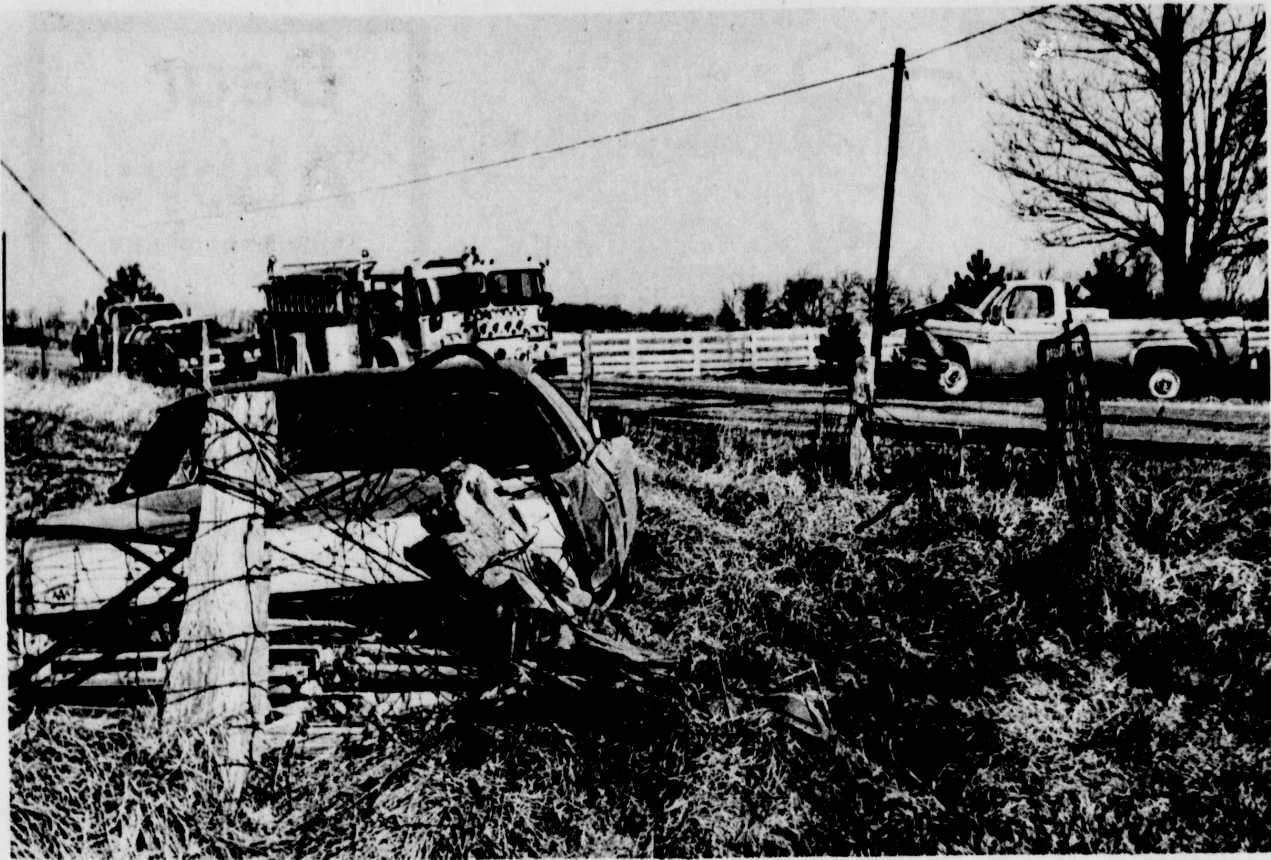

The three were identified as Sharon Powe, 15; her sister Lelani, 12 and Dolores Wright, 6, a cousin.

Twelve other members of the family were taken to Licking Memorial Hospital where they were treated for smoke inhalation, cuts, burns and shock and then released, officials said.

One fireman was treated for heat exhaustion and released.

Thanks to neighbors, relatives, and friends for their cards, flowers, and visits while I was a patient in Fayette Memorial Hospital. A special thanks to Dr. Payton, and to the nurses and nurses' aides in the 300 Wing for their efficient service.

TWO DRIVERS INJURED — Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported that Willard Perrill, 472 East St., the driver of the car at left, ran a stop sign while traveling north on the Snow Hill Road, and collided with a pickup truck proceeding south on the Greenfield-Sabina Road at 9:27 a.m. Friday. The other driver, Russell Lanman, 50, of 6533 Red Bud Road, was treated for jaw and knee injuries at Fayette County Memorial Hospital and released. Perrill sustained a deep laceration of the side of his head and, as of noon Friday, was still being treated at the hospital.

Plantiffs assessed costs in Bloomingburg squabble

The court costs and defense counsel fees incurred during an October 28 suit in Fayette County Common Pleas Court seeking the Bloomingburg mayor's removal from office, have been assessed to the plaintiffs.

Madison County Probate Court Judge Robert W. Murray, who heard the three-hour litigation, ruled that the $2,470 in court costs and legal fees arising from the hearing be assessed to the "87 qualified electors of the Village of Bloomingburg," as co-plaintiffs in the case.

All 87 Bloomingburg residents, including members of the Bloomingburg village council signed a petition earlier this year seeking Mayo Max E. Grim's removal from office.

On October 28, after Judge Murray listened to the four charges brought against Grim by the plaintiffs, he dismissed the case in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

The evidence presented concerned a charge against Grim of conflict of interest and three charges of failing to carry out the duties of the mayor's office.

Firemen subdue two brush fires

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned to two Thursday brush fires.

Brush on a vacant lot at the Mac Tools, Inc. plant, U.S. 35-SE, caught fire from unknown causes at 9:56 p.m. Thursday, and was extinguished with water by firemen.

Judge Evelyn W. Coffman, having been involved with several of the parties involved in the case, had asked the Ohio Supreme Court to assign another judge to hear the controversial issue.

In a judgment entry to the Fayette County Clerk of Courts, Judge Murray also overruled a motion by the plaintiffs seeking a new trial.

Blacks fight bar exam failures

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four black law graduates of Cleveland State who failed their bar exams sued Thursday to try to block swearing in ceremonies for more than 1,200 persons who did get passing grades this week.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Lambros denied the request for a temporary restraining order against today's swearing in at Columbus.

Lambros' opinion indicated that the four failed to convince the court that they would be irreparably harmed by the induction of those who passed the exam.

The suit charged that the Ohio Supreme Court and the Board of Bar Examiners historically has discriminated against blacks. Of the 1,350 persons who took the exam, 89 per cent passed, but only 40 per cent of the blacks taking the test got passing grades, the petition said.

One of the four, Lawrence Kaigler of Cleveland, a Vietnam War veteran, said he was "shocked beyond belief" that he failed the test by 6½ points. He blamed the scoring on arbitrariness and inexactness of the grading system.

Another plaintiff, James Gay of Cleveland, said he had taken the test three times and failed each time by 4½ points or less.

"I am as competent as any applicant who scored 270," said Gay in his affidavit. He said his score was 265½.

The petition alleged that the written exam given last July was not professionally developed and was graded in an arbitrary and capricious manner.

Casinos in Atlantic City

Now that New Jersey voters have approved casino gambling in Atlantic City, a boom is joyously anticipated by many residents of this ailing resort community. Also by outside interests which expect to cash in on the yen to make a fast buck the easy way. There are those, however, who have a hunch that everything may not come up roses.

Mayor Joseph Lazarow got so carried away on the wave of post-election euphoria that he declared: "I foresee Atlantic City once again becoming the greatest seashore resort in the world. It will once again become the Queen of Resorts and it will have all the dignity and respect befitting a queen."

A little skepticism seems well warranted. If "dignity and respect" is what Mayor Lazarow and others of like mind wanted to restore to their town, they probably are barking up the wrong tree.

There is nothing queenly about the razzle dazzle of Las Vegas, which apparently serves as a model for those who want to make Atlantic City a gambling mecca. Las Vegas offers enticements of a sort. Those enticed are efficiently parted from a lot of their money. But dignity is not what comes to mind when one thinks of the Nevada city, nor is it widely known for generating any particular sense of respect.

The die is cast. Atlantic City seems destined to become another flashy gambling center to which a multitude of tourists will come for a fling. Whether this will be the best thing that ever happened to Atlantic City and the state of New Jersey is, as the saying goes, open to question.

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Lame duck days need a cure

WASHINGTON — It is 71 days until the new president-elect is inaugurated. With a steadily worsening economy in the West, that is a very long time. With the accelerated pace of change so much can happen in that time that the outgoing president will be powerless to act on in view of his limited tenure.

There was a time when a new president was not sworn in until March

4 and when a lame duck Congress met after the November election to indulge in futile oratory. The 20th amendment to the Constitution changed that by fixing the new president's term to begin Jan. 20 with the newly elected Congress to meet on Jan. 3.

This was hailed as a highly progressive change, as indeed it was, since the lame duck session was eliminated and the inauguration of a new president was moved forward by two weeks.

But in view of the greatly enhanced powers of the presidency and the leadership role of the United States in world affairs, the question is whether this interval is not too long.

No one can begrudge Jimmy Carter the vacation — he calls it a working vacation — he is taking at Sea Island, off the coast of his native Georgia. There is a way, however, in which he could advance the pace of international cooperation and contribute to checking the deterioration of the world economy. That would be by designating at the earliest possible moment his Secretary of the Treasury.

Presumably this would be a man familiar with international finance. While he could make no commitments, he could work in close harmony with the retiring Treasury Secretary William Simon.

There would be no reason why he could not travel abroad to meet on an informal basis with central bankers and even with heads of state. This would be a helpful leap forward for the president who in the end must bear the responsibility.

The 20th amendment has an interesting history. It was proposed by Congress on March 2, 1932, at the start of the bitter campaign that year between the incumbent President Herbert Hoover, and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. The hard-fighting senator from Nebraska, the late George W. Norris, had for years pushed an amendment to abolish the futile and often damaging lame duck session.

The ratification of the amendment was completed on Jan. 23, 1933. Franklin Roosevelt had won the election and was to take office the following March 4. What followed, as the country sank into the greatest depression in history, was an extraordinary test of wills.

The unhappy Hoove in the White House wanted to consult with FDR or his principal aides on steps that might be taken to check the swift drop into the abyss.

But Roosevelt was fearful that he would be committed to ameliorative measures insufficient to curb the rising toll of unemployment and business bankruptcies. The overtures from the beleaguered White House were rejected.

When Roosevelt took the oath of office, with the ringing declaration, "we have nothing to fear but fear itself," every bank in the country was closed. The new president was immediately launched on his first hundred days, bringing about the enactment of the whole range of legislation that is the basis for today's Social Security and unemployment insurance.

I do not mean to suggest that anything even as remotely catastrophic as this is in view. Nevertheless, the indicators at home and abroad are far from encouraging. Much of what President Ford had to say about returning the country to prosperity is seen to be just what it was — campaign rhetoric.

President Ford has shown every willingness to cooperate in the transition period. He is an honorable man of the best intentions. Simon, too, would be a willing cooperator at the Treasury. Such consultations would not bind the incoming president. They would be an assurance to the world of some degree of continuity.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has set an excellent example. He provided both the president-elect and vice-president elect Walter Mondale with briefing books on his experience in the office and its limitations and potentials. This should prove invaluable. A Rockefeller-Mondale meeting quietly in private would be another advance.

Sailing an uncharted sea for the next 71 days is almost too much to ask of the travelers on the ship called earth. The charts that came out of Jimmy Carter's campaign were defined only in the broadest outline. We need more at this critical moment in history.

Inaugural bashes set by Dixy Ray

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Governor-elect Dixy Lee Ray has told her aides to plan for a statewide round of inauguration bashes.

The traditional Olympia area ball will be held Jan. 12. Tickets are $35 a couple or $17.50 apiece — as compared with $25 a couple four years ago.

Other parties will be held in Vancouver, Aberdeen, Port Angeles, Bellingham, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and southeastern Washington. In most cases, the tickets will be $25 a couple.

'Prairie privy rule' stir shakes up OSHA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal safety agency that is drawing up an outhouse regulation has learned a lesson from the uproar over what it called "the privy on every prairie" rule, an official says.

The experience for the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) appears to have been as sobering as one of those fabled "trips out back" on a frosty morning.

"I'm sure that OSHA learned a lot" from the flap, said Maynard Dolloff, OSHA's special adviser for agricultural affairs.

The furor, which erupted last June, resulted in a congressional curb on OSHA's authority and an awareness within the agency of what is needed to restore its credibility, he said.

OSHA also drew flak for its farm safety booklets — said to be aimed at barely literate laborers — advising, among other things, that wet manure is slippery and that farmers should "speak softly to cows."

OSHA originally planned to require field toilets and drinking facilities within five minutes' reach of any farmworker. Farmers from around the country ridiculed the proposal as costly and impractical. They said nature's call could best be met in more informal ways or by driving to toilet accommodations.

The privy rule is still being considered, but Dolloff said it probably will apply only to such farms as fruit-growing operations and large truck farms, which frequently hire large numbers of migrant workers.

Assistant Labor Secretary Morton Corn soon will hold hearings in farm communities on the proposal.

"He's going to try to get some sense in that thing," said Dolloff, a former Maine agricultural commissioner brought to OSHA 11 months ago by Corn. "Anyone with any common sense should have known it was never meant to apply to prairies. But it's true it wasn't clearly worded."

A Skubitz-sponsored amendment that became law last month prohibits OSHA from inspecting farms with less than 10 workers and exempts those farms from other OSHA rules about agriculture.

Until some years ago, weathered oil derricks along the highway between Tiffin and Findlay recalled the oil boom of the 1890s and early 1900's, when large quantities of oil were pumped from the surrounding oil fields and there was more natural gas than could be used. Around 1900 it was a common sight to see great gas flares burning night and day in the farmyards and fields—tragic waste of one of the state's great natural resources.—AP

Neighbor delivers a heart to heart

DEAR ABBY: The letter from TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING, concerning a neighbor who was wearing out her welcome, is similar to the problem I encountered. This neighbor would pop in on me often, and always without notice. Sometimes I was entertaining a relative or another friend, and frequently I had a lot of work to do and no time for a social visit. I became frustrated and didn't know how to tell her without hurting her feelings.

Finally, in desperation, I took this nice neighbor into my bedroom and closed the door. Then I explained that I really liked her and valued her friendship, but there were times when I wanted to be alone with my friends or family, and as a favor to me to please phone to see if it was all right to come over.

She was very understanding, and thanked me for being honest with her. Now she visits me less often and always phones first. Today we are the best of friends.

Abby, if we would all speak our minds honestly and with love, we could accomplish much.

G.S. IN VA.
DEAR G.S.: Read on for a letter from a woman who lacked your compassion and lived to regret it!

DEAR ABBY: I am a recently retired woman who once enjoyed a successful and fulfilling business career. I've remained single by choice.

I live alone, but I'm far from lonely. I have all the friends I want. I like my privacy and have never encouraged visitors to drop in.

The high-rise in which I live has excellent security, and no one gets into the building without being screened.

One evening about 7:30, there was a knock on my door. I wasn't expecting anyone so I asked who was there. It was a widow who lives on my floor, and with whom I had had only a nodding acquaintance. She said she was "lonely," and didn't know what to do with herself, and asked if she could come in and visit for a while.

I told her politely but bluntly that I was busy, and didn't approve of visitors dropping in without phoning first. (I have an unlisted phone number, which I did not give her.) She apologized for bothering me and left.

Abby, I've always felt that people who intrude on others should be treated with the same lack of consideration they give those upon whom they intrude. I felt quite proud of myself for not getting trapped by a bore who would probably be difficult to get rid of.

The next evening a friend telephoned to ask if I knew the woman in my building who had committed suicide the evening before.

If you have already guessed that she was the woman who knocked on my door, you are right.
HARD LESSON LEARNED

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 19, the 324th day of 1976. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address.

On this date:
In 1493, Christopher Columbus discovered the island of Puerto Rico. In 1498, the Portuguese navigator, Vasco da Gama, discovered the passage to India around Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

In 1794, the United States and Britain signed the Jay Treaty, adjusting issues left over from the Revolutionary War.

In 1831, the 20th American president, James Garfield, was born on a farm near Mentor, Ohio.

In 1919, the U.S. Senate rejected the World War I Treaty of Versailles.

In 1965, a federal jury in Washington fined the American Communist Party $230,000 for failing to register with the government as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson returned to his Texas ranch to recuperate after surgery at Bethesda Naval Hospital near Washington.

Five years ago: U.S. Senator Henry Jackson of Washington announced he was a candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination.

One year ago: President Francisco Franco of Spain sank into a deep coma.

Today's birthdays: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is 59. Television personality Dick Cavett is 40. Former baseball star Roy Campanella is 55.

Thought for today: "A man is as old as he's feeling, a woman as old as she looks." — Mortimer Collins, English writer, 1827-1876.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington deplored the recent American military reverses in New York at White Plains and Fort Washington. In a letter to his brother, John Augustine Washington, the general wrote: "I am wearied almost to death with the retrograde motion of things ..."

When the federal government decided it could not maintain the National Road it was turned over to the states by sections and in 1928 Ohio and Pennsylvania passed laws for maintenance and accepted completed portions in 1831 and 1934. —AP

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Your thoughts finally "jell" on a project you've been contemplating. You "put it all together," as they say, and results will prove it.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

Consult with others before making important decisions. Your endurance may be tested, but you are used to tests — and usually pass them with flying colors.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Let certain situations ride now. Forcing issues will do more harm than good. By demonstration, you can let others know that your ideas are practical.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Mixed influences. Avoid overoptimism. Too rosy an outlook could cause you to overlook small but vital details. The p.m. brings an interesting bit of news.

Talk angered Jews

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — It was the second time that Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, riled American Jews. This time, his comments were in the realm of military opinion. Before, they were, from the facts available, objectively mistaken.

His latest comment that Israel was a military burden to the United States was sharply denounced recently by the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, an umbrella group of 32 national religious and secular Jewish bodies.

It urged President Ford to censure Brown, calling his statement a "reckless and irresponsible" challenge to American foreign policy and its commitment to the security and survival of Israel.

Brown, at a Washington news conference held as a result of the furor, said he was "wholeheartedly" committed to protecting Israel's security. But he insisted that his point — that Israel was a burden — was correct from a narrowly military view, in that Israel draws on U.S. equipment.

His reasoning, however, was sharply disputed in the Jewish reaction. Rabbi Walter Wurzburger, president of the Rabbinical Council of America, said Brown's statement "betrays dismal insensitivity to the vital security interests" of the United States itself.

Bernardin raps meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Conference of Catholic Bishops will carefully evaluate recommendations made during a big meeting of Catholics in Detroit last week, Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati pledged Tuesday.

However, Bernardin, president of the conference, said he felt participants in the meeting attempted too much and "special interest groups advocating

This is especially so, he added, "in the light of the broad consensus of American people that a strong Israel represents an important bastion for defense of democracy and the free world, and, therefore, is indispensable to the strategic interests of the nation."

Rabbi Wurzburger, like others, added that it was "not the first time the Gen. Brown has been guilty of such mistatements."

The reference was to a 1974 speech by Brown at Duke University in which he said Jews own the banks and the newspapers in this country — remarks for which he later apologized after Ford reprimanded him.

At that time, numerous Jewish leaders called for Brown's removal.

Various studies have found false the claim that Jews dominate American banking or newspapers. But the notion has persisted since the middle ages when Jews were small-time money lenders, drawn into it as necessary economic middlemen at a time when the church forbade Christians to lend money for interest.

Portrayal of Jews as controllers of money became part of anti-Semitic propaganda, reaching its virulent heights in Nazi Germany.

However, a survey made by the American Jewish Committee in 1973 of 25 of the nation's largest banks outside New York City showed that of 377 senior managers, one was Jewish. Of 3,027 persons in middle management, 38 were Jewish.

Local resident performs service in New York

A Washington C.H. resident was the featured preacher at a morning service held earlier this week in the Grace United Methodist Church of Lindenhurst, N.Y.

Rev. Paul Niswander, 224 Gardner Court, the first pastor of the New York Church, presented the service in commemoration of its 50th anniversary.

Accompanied by his wife, Rev. Niswander also visited friends in Rokonoma, N.Y., a community in which he was a minister from 1929 through 1931.

The Niswanders have been retired since June, 1971.

Mrs. Esther Frye of Xenia, a chalk artist, will be the featured speaker at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church.

Posy Garden Club learns how to care for house plants

Eleven members of the Posy Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Jess Schlichter for the November meeting. The dining room table was centered with an unusual Thanksgiving arrangement including a large ceramic wild turkey, eucalyptus, Indian corn and a pair of Indian apple-head dolls.

The new president, Mrs. Lyle Hanawalt, conducted a lengthy business meeting. At the recent Region 16 meeting in the Mahan building, Mrs. Hanawalt accepted Regional awards for the club in therapy, program book and single club Flower Show. Six members attended and assisted in various capacities. She also reported on the projects discussed at the Presidents' Council meeting. She gave each member a new program book designed by Mrs. Fern Miller. Mrs. Russell Roberts was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Art Schlichter gave the club a 1977 copy of "Old Farmer's Almanac" which has been published continuously since 1792. It contains planting tables, zodiac secrets etc., and an excellent article about "The Return of the Honkers" by Axel Bong. Not all environmental news is bad as the wild goose population has increased by one million since 1954. This article should be read by interested conservationists.

Mrs. Schlichter made altar arrangements for the Madison Mills United Methodist Church for the harvest season, using dry plant material and grain. The Posy members make arrangements for the altar each Sunday.

The Club members will make hand-crafted tree ornaments to decorate the Christmas tree at the Fayette Center Gallery—in keeping with the times of the antique coverlet show there now. Seven coverlets were loaned by Posy

Garden club members.

The book, "The Forgotten Art of Flowery Cookery," by Leona Woodring Smith, has been given to the Carnegie Public Library by the club.

Mrs. Jess Schlichter, therapy chairman, announced the Fayette Progressive School children will make pine cone turkeys and "bring the outdoors in" by planting a woodland garden in a large fishbowl terrarium. The children will be instructed how to care for this mini-sized greenhouse.

Mrs. Albert Bihl read fall horticulture tips on mulching, staking and proper winter protection of new plants in the garden.

Mrs. Frank Barrett gave the program on "Winter Care of House Plants". If plants are to remain decorative for a long time, one has to get to know and understand them, she said. Many plants are adaptable to home conditions, but their needs of warmth, light, humidity and watering must be considered. Over-watering probably kills more plants than any other thing, and if one has a hot, dry home cacti, succulents and epiphyllum, which have spectacular flowers, must be considered. Avoid over-feeding in winter and watch for insects, she said. The local library has many excellent books on the care of house plants as they are the biggest decorating item of the year. Mrs. Schlichter used her "problem house plants" as an exhibit and received many helpful hints on proper care from the "green thumb" members.

Mrs. Jess Schlichter served a seasonal dessert to Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Hanawalt, Mrs. Bihl, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Lester Haines, Mrs. Lawrence Woods, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter, Mrs. Homer Wilson, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Bernard Edwards.

Mrs. Link BPW speaker

Mrs. Susan Link was speaker for the evening when the Business and Professional Women's Club met at the Washington Country Club. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Mary Lou Christman, and opened with the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. Sara Echard. Mrs. Edith Long gave the invocation. Mrs. Link's talk was entitled "Opening the Doors" - which was about the achievements and accomplishments of women of the past and present.

Tuesday's meeting was planned by the Public Relations Committee, with Miss Norita Craycraft and Susan Link as co-chairmen. The remaining committee members are Mrs. Lillian Ervin, Mrs. Lillian Schneider, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Louise Rodgers, Mrs. Thelma Fenton and Mrs. Mary Morris.

Musical entertainment was provided by the Court House Company. Members of the group are Miss Elaine Stookey, Miss Anita Pruitt, Jeff Sheridan, Gary Browning and Mrs. Paula Campbell. They presented several selections of songs from the 1930's and concluded with a medley of songs from "The Wizard of Oz."

Diane Combs and Cathleen Fenton were guests. Girls-of-the-Month were seniors from Miami Trace High School—Cindy Baird and Susan Pero.

Girl Scout Unit has meeting

The Fayette County Girl Scout Unit meeting was held Wednesday at Anderson's Restaurant at 1 p.m.

Present were Mrs. Vi Bulger of Chillicothe, Field Representative of the Seal of Ohio GS Council, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Fayette County representative, Felix Stevens, public relations, and the following leaders from the following troops: Mrs. Betty Stevens and Mrs. Mary Lou Everhart, Brownie Troop 877; Miss Sandy Dale, Brownie Troop 1425; Mrs. Linda Hines, Brownie Troop 1056; Mrs. Diane Sohn of Brownie Troop 295; and Mrs. Susan Speck.

Training sessions were discussed and basic orientation for all Girl Scout leaders. The dates are set for January 17 and 24, with the time and place to be announced.

An invitation was extended by Mrs. Bulger to all Fayette County leaders to attend a luncheon dance and song session from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Dec. 8, in Chillicothe.

Mrs. Cunningham discussed a Christmas party for all county leaders, but no date was set.

Xi Iota Theta honors three

An impressive candlelight ritual was held Tuesday night in the Staunton United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall for Dee Pruitt, Zella Pemberton and Georgette, Kelly, by Xi Iota Theta chapter members.

The service committee reported that a Christmas party for the members' children will be held this year, and the chapter will also support a worthy family for Christmas this year.

The social committee reported that the social for Saturday evening will include dinner at the Terrace Lounge with the husbands as guests. Bunko will then be played in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pitzer.

PTO carnival nets $1,500

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg Elementary School PTO carnival netted $1,500 last Saturday, organization members learned at a recent meeting.

In another fund-raising effort, Jeff Parker, junior high school physical education teacher, announced that "Bloomingburg Bulldog" tee-shirts will go on sale. The proceeds from the sale will be used to buy additional equipment for the physical education program.

Mrs. Donald Hutchens, a second-grade teacher, was at the meeting to thank the organization for the new carpet in her classroom while Parker expressed his thanks for the recently purchased volleyball standards.

The PTO voted to buy needed art supplies for the junior high school. The science department was also allocated funds for supplies and new clocks are to be purchased for the school building. It was also announced that each teacher will receive a cash allotment to purchase various items for the individual classrooms.

A meeting of the Bloomingburg room mothers was slated for Tuesday in the school cafeteria and the next PTO meeting will be held Dec. 15 at 7:30 p.m. following the school's Christmas program.

3 Ohio GM plants struck

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three of the 16 General Motors Corp. plants targeted by the United Auto Workers for strikes at Thursday midnight were in Ohio. The UAW and another company reached a tentative agreement that affects workers in a fourth Ohio location.

The UAW, in an unprecedented action, launched a selective "mini-strike" against the 16 key GM plants at 12:01 a.m. EST Friday. The action came after bargainers failed to reach accord on a new national contract for 390,000 workers.

The singled out GM facilities are the Fisher Body plants at Cleveland, Hamilton and Mansfield. The UAW's contract expired at midnight, and the union opted for selected shutdowns instead of going nationwide.

Agency maintains 363,717 acres

ODNR state's largest property owner

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Each year thousands of Ohioans utilize state-owned lands. Whether they hunt or fish on public wildlife areas, hike through a state forest or camp at a state park, few Ohioans realize the agency that administers these public areas is the state's largest property owner.

"The Ohio Department of Natural Resources is responsible for maintaining 363,717 acres across the state," said department director Robert W. Teater, who pointed out this is only 1.38 per cent of the total number of acres in Ohio.

Ohio ranks 38th in the nation for state-owned land set aside for recreation.

In comparing Ohio's five neighboring states, Michigan and Pennsylvania administer more state recreation land than Ohio with 4.5 and 3.5 million acres respectively.

The other three bordering states and their total state-administered recreation land are West Virginia, 277,972 acres; Indiana, 277,000 acres; and Kentucky, 156,000 acres.

Ohio's state recreation lands consist of state forests, state parks, wildlife areas and nature preserves. The total cost and acreage of these areas are outlined in the "1976 Land Inventory," published by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources Office of Real Estate.

According to the land inventory, Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Forestry manages the largest share of land owned by the department, consisting of 170,624 acres.

State forest lands include 18 state forests and two strip mine reclamation areas. The state forests are managed on a multiple-use basis to provide timber, wildlife habitat and a variety of recreational uses. Programs also provide management assistance for private landowners, forest fire protection, insect control and environmental education.

The 109,784 acres administered by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Parks and Recreation include 64 state parks designed to meet a large part of the public's recreational needs in Ohio. Delaware and Alum Creek state parks, and portions of Deer Creek, Dillon, Mosquito Creek, West Branch, Buck Creek, Caesar Creek, East Fork and Paint Creek are leased by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The park system contains more than 8,600 campsites, 486 vacation cabins, six vacation lodges, four golf courses and a variety of recreation facilities. Forty-six of the state parks have one or more lakes for a total of 60,992 water acres. The parks with lakes provide nine miles of beaches for swimming and docks for more than 6,000 boats.

The 79,066 acres administered by the Wildlife Division are primarily supported by revenue generated from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

The Wildlife Division is responsible for conserving the state's fish and wildlife through management practices and the enforcement of protective

IUD deaths worrisome

BOSTON (AP) — The risk of dying from an infected spontaneous abortion is 50 times higher among women who wear interuterine devices — IUDs — while pregnant, a federal study says. The researchers say the figures dramatize the importance of women having their IUDs removed at the first sign of pregnancy. IUDs are plastic birth control devices implanted in the uterus to prevent pregnancy. About 2 per cent of the time, however, they fail, and women become pregnant anyway. The new study says that unless these women have their IUDs removed at once, they run a greatly increased risk of dying from infected, or septic, abortions that occur spontaneously, unlike those induced by doctors. The research was conducted by the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. It was published today in the New England Journal of Medicine. The doctors reached their conclusions after surveying the 50 deaths related to spontaneous abortions that occurred in the United States between 1972 and 1974. During that time, they estimated that 115,000 pregnant women were wearing IUDs and 11.9 million were not.

Three minor traffic mishaps investigated

Three traffic accidents in which damage to the vehicles involved was no more than moderate, were investigated Thursday by Washington C.H. police officers.

Charles T. Nebbergal, 30, of 912 1/2 Willard St., was charged with backing without safety after he backed his truck along North Street and it struck a car stopped for traffic behind it.

Nebbergal had been stopped at the Court Street intersection, and had backed up to let a semi tractor trailer rig turn onto North Street. Nebbergal's truck struck and slightly damaged a car driven by Donald L. Blair, 47, of 1200 Dayton Ave., police officers said. The mishap occurred at 6:18 p.m. Thursday.

Traveling west in an alley approaching the 300 block of Grace Street, a car driven by Doris J. Stritenberger, 28, of 3950 Prairie Road, reportedly collided with a car driven by Terry A. Beedy, 23, of 236 Kennedy Ave., which was proceeding north on Grace Street at 5:30 p.m. Thursday. Damage was slight to both vehicles.

Northbound on Brown Street and stopped at the Lewis Street intersection, a car driven by Daniel Pearce, 17, of 2169 Dorthea Drive, was struck in the rear by an approaching car that was unable to stop in time.

The second car was driven by Wendy Coil, 16, of 3895 Washington-Waterloo Road, and both vehicles sustained moderate damage as a result of the 7:58 a.m. Thursday accident.

Miss Coil was charged with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Judging scheduled Monday

Six area finalists seeking Miss Snow Princess title

Six finalists have been selected in the Miss Snow Princess division to reign over the 1976 Christmas parade.

George Malek, executive vice president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, said each entry included a written essay on "Why Fayette County Has a Christmas Parade." Although photographs accompanied each entry, the judges felt that the content of each essay should be used as the criteria for selecting finalists.

The finalists were selected on the basis of their ideas about what the Christmas parade offers the community and the manner in which they expressed these ideas.

All finalists in the Snow Queen, Miss Snow Princess and Little Miss Snow Princess divisions will appear in person before the judges at 7 p.m. Monday in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria. There they will be asked to respond to a question posed by the judges. Mrs. John Marcum is the program chairman.

Serving as judges are Robert Harper of the First National Bank in Washington C.H., David Loudner of the Terrace Lounge and Joe Downs of the Pizza Hut restaurant.

The queen and two princesses will receive gifts from area merchants and ride the "Parade Royalty" float in the Dec. 4 Christmas parade.

The Miss Snow Princess finalists are:

Diana Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes, 10082 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road. She is an eighth grade student at New Holland Elementary School;

Crystal Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, 7 Brookside Court. She is a sixth Grader at the Washington C.H. Middle School;

Laurie Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Merritt, 5145 U.S. 62-S. She is a seventh grader at Eber Junior High School;

Kelly Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reeves, 7368 Camp Grove Road. She is an eighth grade student at Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope;

Lori Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, 3103 U.S. 62-N. She is a seventh grade student at Bloomingburg Elementary School; and Sheila Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Terry, 3517 Culpepper Trace Road. She is a seventh grade student at Eber Junior High School.

Man fights blindness

STREETSBORO, Ohio (AP) — Streetsboro councilman Roger Prof has been losing his sight since the summer of 1973, but while darkness gathers around him, the light of hope grows within.

Prof, 40, has not let the coming of blindness prevent him from doing his job nor has he let it cause him to give up his faith.

"I miss looking at flowers and watching ants parade to an ant hill. I'd like to have my eyes back," he says. "I still have great hope in doctors and in God."

The councilman is a retired Ford Motor Co. employee who now spends a good part of his day on civic affairs. He relies heavily on the telephone to contact constituents. He says the telephone company doesn't charge him for getting phone numbers through information. At home, his family reads to him.

He is seldom absent from council meetings or city functions. "At first my blindness depressed me. But in the past, I've seen others with greater problems than I have. I can still do a lot I didn't think I would be able to. And I can still walk without a cane."

Prof, who has had diabetes since he was 17, receives laser treatments for hemorrhaging behind his retina. He has general vision and that's all.

Eight sets of twins attend classes

Look-alikes abound at WSHS

By CHRIS MCKINNEY

In the year 1965 a group of students entered each of the different elementary schools in Washington C.H. Since then, there has been much talk about the number of twins Washington City Schools have had.

This year, there are eight sets of twins, and one of the sets are now attending the joint vocational school. The unusual thing about all of the twins are that five of the eight sets are all members of the graduating class of 1977.

The freshmen class added our eighth duet of look-alikes this year when Bill and Bob Runnels moved up to the Senior High School with the class of 1979.

Nancy and Brad Penwell are another pair of twins, but not many people seem to know this because Brad is a member of the freshmen class while Nancy is a sophomore.

Of course it is hard to tell most twins apart, but Thelma and Velma Ratcliff take the cake. It is nearly impossible to tell them apart. The girls are juniors and attend Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School.

Next comes the senior class. To answer the doubtful question, Yes, Brenda and Linda Morrison are twins, and Linda is the oldest. Sue and Tammy Pope are another set that are unidenticals as twins, Tammy is the oldest in this pair.

Another of the sets that are hard to tell apart are Lu and Jo Brown. The Browns are led by Lu. Cathy Penwell Alshire and Cindy Penwell are the class of '77's fourth set. Cathy holds her head up when she says she is the oldest. Last are Beth and Jill Schaeper, in that order. They are smiling blondes.

There you have it, everyone has talked and been amazed at the number of twins Washington C.H. has had, now you have met them all and can leave the "un" off of "believable".

Prayer breakfast draws students

By JANE HENRY

Have you ever wondered what goes on at South Side Church of Christ on Tuesday mornings at 6:45?

Many of the teachers and students of Washington Senior High School, and Miami Trace High School attend the weekly prayer breakfast. The Prayer breakfast gives the teachers and students a chance to have a quiet time with God before the days activities begin.

When students and teachers arrive at South Side, they quietly go into the sanctuary. There they can have a quiet meditation time with the Rev. Charles Richmond, beginning the day with a few good thoughts.

Dismissal time arrives and everyone floods into Fellowship Hall. Songs are sung, and are accompanied on the piano by students who have volunteered the previous week. After that, someone offers thanks for the food and a delicious breakfast is served.

Preparation and serving is done by volunteer ladies who are within the church. The food is very appreciated, as it comes from gifts and donations, which are given by private persons and organizations.

Just as everyone is about to finish

eating, Reverend Richmond takes the count of how many freshman, sophomores, juniors, and seniors are present. Teachers are also counted.

After all of this takes place, and things get quieted down, one of the students or teachers give a small, five-minute inspirational talk. After this there is a dismissal prayer. Everyone then leaves to go to school.

The prayer breakfast has grown since the last school year. There are no problems in people volunteering to lead the singing or give devotions. Students and teachers from all denominations are represented.

FTA members try teaching

WSHS students serve as aides

By KAY LANGEN

Future Teachers of America is one of the career clubs offered at the Washington Senior High School.

The club gives the members experience in being a teacher's aide at the Eastside School or at the Senior High School during study halls. Being an aide permits a person to learn the pros and cons of being a teacher without any formal and expensive training. The experience will help the person decide whether or not he would like to continue in this field of study.

Eastside started helping FTA about four years ago. While at Eastside, the student aide may either be placed in the class as a "teacher", or may be given a tutoring job to help a child along in his lessons.

In February, FTA sponsors a "George Washington Tea" for the teachers at Eastside. The FTA also makes gifts for Orient at Christmas and at the end of the school year. They give a $50 scholarship to a graduate going into the field of education. To earn money for their activities, FTA holds different projects such as bake sales as well as various money-making projects.

This year FTA elected Bret Wilson as their president. Other officers are: Beth Harris, vice-president; Bryan Buck, secretary; and Tammy Pope, treasurer. The advisor for the club this year, and for the past three years, is Mrs. Doris Lutz.

Future Teachers of America is a very worthwhile club for anyone to join. We would like to thank Mrs. Lutz, Eastside School, and the Senior High School for their interest in helping the future careers dealing in education.

LEARNING THE TRADE — Linda Morrison helps an Eastside Elementary student with his studies as part of the WSHS Future Teachers of America Club program.

Lion of week full of spirit

By DEBBIE HIGHFIELD

The Lion of the Week is Sue Stapleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Stapleton of 215 E. Paint St.

Sue is a spirited leader at WSHS. She took the reins of a pep club and got it off the ground. She felt the necessity of such a club, so she formed it with over 25 members.

Sue makes badges and signs for each game. Her spirit is turned all the way up 24 hours a day.

As a cheerleader, Sue got the crowd excited. Now, as a spirited leader, she accomplishes the same purpose.

Spirit and excitement are in Sue's blood. At the game, you'll recognize her as the red-cheeked, banner-carrying screamer. You just have to yell along with her.

Spirit and enthusiasm are very important to a team. If the players know they've got support from their fans, they are going to play 100 per cent better.

WSHS feels proud to have Sue in there backing the Lions all the way. If only, everyone could have just a portion of her enthusiasm and determination.

Thanks Sue! What would we do without you?

Moynihan to be maverick in U.S. Senate

By PETER SLOCUM
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — New York's new U.S. senator grew up a poor Irish boy in the real-life setting for the musical "West Side Story."

But Daniel Patrick Moynihan, won his Senate seat on Manhattan's East Side, where his dramatic performances at the United Nations drew rave notices and gave Democrat Moynihan a head start with the state's important Jewish voters.

The sometimes-bureaucrat made two big speeches on behalf of Israel during his time as U.S. permanent representative to the United Nations, and his reputation was made.

Ohio Perspective

See no changes for state GOP

By TOM DIEMER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess doesn't plan any major change in direction for his depleted Republican caucus.

Kurfess, who saw the Republican base in the House slip from 40 to 37 in the election, faced a small but vocal band of dissidents at an organizational caucus.

Although a planned challenge to his leadership fizzled, there were calls for a change in approach by the minority bloc, which no longer has enough votes to sustain GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' vetoes.

Kurfess, a Bowling Green lawyer, is not adverse to new strategies or policies, but contends "the role of the minority in the House is a continuously changing one."

"The different things we'll do, will depend on the particular situation."

Kurfess, a former speaker of the House who is completing his 20th year in the legislature, noted that election losers often react by saying "the people have spoken."

"Sometimes," Kurfess said, "I wish we hadn't asked them."

Democratic victories in Ohio congressional races have not stilled talk of another effort in the state legislature to redistrict boundary lines to benefit Democratic candidates.

State Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, captured the 13th Congressional District seat in north Moynihan's dramatic flair is considerable. He can hunch his narrow shoulders up, spread out his arms like wings, toss his long, gray hair — he even seems to stretch his 6-foot-4 frame into a strung bow.

His eyebrows are capable of arched heights beyond the reach of most mortals, and his reddened face bobs and twists into numberless masks atop the thickened neck.

For all that skill, Moynihan's campaign speeches often left audiences flat, and it is too early to class him with the Senate's grand old speakers, with their melodrama and passion. Moynihan's thrusts against his recent foe, incumbent Republican Conservative Sen. James L. Buckley, were more tweaks than damnations.

"Professorial" is a word many observers enjoy pinning on Moynihan. Buckley called him "Professor Moynihan" throughout the campaign, and while Moynihan put on great displays of anger, he seemed to relish the label.

In fact Moynihan's whole campaign image was a marriage of Irish street imp and Ivy League intellectual.

"Say something in Irish and I'll introduce you," one speaker told him from the stage during the campaign.

"I'll have a beer," Moynihan responded.

central Ohio, left vacant by the retirement of GOP Rep. Charles Mosher. And Cincinnati attorney Thomas Luken ousted incumbent Rep. Donald D. Clancy, a Republican in the 2nd district.

That chipped the Republican edge from 15-8 to 13-10 in the Ohio congressional delegation.

But Democrats were bitterly disappointed by the narrow loss of Columbus city councilwoman Fran Ryan to Rep. Sam Devine, R-12. And former state legislator John McDonald got swamped by conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-17, despite an ambitious campaign.

A redistricting effort would of course fuel partisan fires, but the veto-proof Democratic legislature could surmount a veto by Rhodes. There would probably be a degree of discontent however, even in Democratic ranks, since Democratic strength in some districts would be eroded somewhat to shore up other areas.

The districts in Cincinnati and Columbus could well become doughnut shaped in each city—an outlying suburban district that would be conceded to a Republican and a central city district for a Democrat, like Fran Ryan or Tom Luken.

Two northwest Ohio state senators have introduced a resolution recognizing this week as "National Liederkrantz Week." In a joint statement, Sens. M. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, and Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, said: "The world's supply of this gastronomic treat is produced in Van Wert under the watchful eyes and expert control of Van Wert's master cheese makers. At full ripeness, Liederkrantz has delighted the world's palate and brought fame to this community."

Mutual fund group declares dividend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A quarterly dividend of nine cents per share has been approved by Mutual Investing Foundation trustees for the MIF Fund, one cent more than was paid during each of the three previous quarters. Trustees also approved a semiannual dividend for MIF Growth Fund of four cents a share, one cent more than each paid in the previous half year.

The trustees also approved a capital gains distribution for MIF Fund of 20 cents per share.

The dividends and capital gains distribution are payable Nov. 23 to shareholders of record Nov. 22.

Roman Catholics were relatively few in pioneer days in Ohio, the first edifice of that denomination in the state being dedicated in Perry County in December, 1818. Although as late as 1819 there had been only 100 Catholics in Cincinnati, with no resident priest, seven years later the frame church erected in 1823 had become inadequate and four priests and a bishop were in residence.—AP

Moynihan, who favors plaid Irish walking hats, will have some colorful competition in the Senate from a fellow academic who's fond of tam-o'-shanters. It will come from Sen. S. I. Hayakawa, a semantics professor who, like Moynihan, defeated an incumbent to become a California senator. Hayakawa, who gained his fame as a college president for a confrontation with student demonstrators in the 60s, is a Republican.

At 49, Moynihan has behind him a career of bouncing back and forth between government and campus, between Republican and Democratic powerholders. Hayakawa, who says he and Moynihan are liberal intellectuals who have seen the light, only recently switched from the Democratic to the Republican party.

Moynihan started out working for New York's Democratic governor of the 1950's, W. Averell Harriman. When Harriman lost his bid for re-election in 1958, he gave his official papers to Syracuse University and Moynihan went there to teach.

Moynihan got involved early in John F. Kennedy's campaign and went to Washington when Kennedy won the 1960 election.

There, in the forefront of the New Frontier, and later President Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society, Moynihan was a highly ranked architect of expanding social programs.

Later, after his first stint at Harvard, he grew more doubtful about the federal government's ability to bring about creative change, and he signed on as President Richard M. Nixon's domestic affairs adviser.

In that post Moynihan counseled that the black "problem" could benefit from a period of "benign neglect." That advice, in addition to some of his academic work, has rendered him eternally suspect to many black leaders.

During the same time Moynihan promoted a welfare reform plan, based primarily on the notion that the current system works to divide families and that a system which offered more cash and fewer programs for broken families would probably help people more. It would cost more in the short run but less in the long run, he argued. Congress refused to go along, but Moynihan did push to get the outline of his plan into the Democratic party platform this year.

On foreign policy matters, Moynihan pronounces himself deeply suspicious of the Russians and other Communists, and sounds like a 1950s Cold Warrior at times. He supported Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington during the presidential primaries.

Moynihan says he is helping to lead a

Democratic party return to moderation after what he views as the excesses of George McGovern and radical chic.

In New York State, Moynihan has tremendous name recognition, almost celebrity appeal, but no firm political base of his own. He won both the primary campaign and the general election as the designated candidate of the state's most powerful county chairman, Joseph Crangle of Buffalo.

Schlichter, Zechman take top honors

Miami Trace places 12 in district

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami Trace Coach Fred Zechman, his star quarterback Art Schlichter and Lancaster offensive tackle Jim Turner have won The Associated Press' top Ohio Southeastern District Class AAA high school football honors.

Zechman was named the area's AAA Coach of the Year for turning out a 10-0 season, the state's fourth ranking and a third straight South-Central Ohio League title.

Schlichter, only a junior, rushed and passed for 2,203 yards to win Southeastern Ohio Back of the Year honors. The 6-foot-3, 190-pounder hit 92 of 141 passes for 1,665 yards and ran for the rest, figuring in 194 points.

Turner, a 6-4, 255-pound senior, was named the area's AAA Lineman of the Year. Turner has been first team all-district for two straight seasons and was a third team All-Ohioan last fall.

In Class AA, Jim Rockwell of state champion New Lexington was the No. 1 coach, Kevin Cannon of New Lexington the top back and Rick Howard of Ironton, a defensive end, the leading lineman.

In Class A, Morris Gullion of Piketon won the coaching honor, Tim Williams of Oak Hill the back crown and Piketon tackle Terry Gifford the lineman laurels.

Rockwell, in coaching 26 seasons, led the Panthers to a 10-0 record, his 17th consecutive winning campaign, and a spot in the state semifinals. Under Rockwell, New Lexington is 38-2 in the last four years.

Cannon, a 6-foot, 185-pound tailback, piled up 1,200 yards rushing for the Panthers. Howard, a repeat first team all-district selection, performed as a fullback and defensive end in leading Ironton to a 9-1 season.

Gullion produced a 9-1 record at Piketon and won the Scioto Valley Conference title for the second straight season. Williams, a 6-2, 170-pound senior, swept to 2,090 yards in 306 rushes, scoring 172 points. Gifford's blocking was one of the reasons Piketon was once beaten.

High school playoffs set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Don Bucci knows the experience of coaching an Ohio high school playoff championship football team, but he's making no predictions about a 1976 title for his Youngstown Mooney football team. The awesome reason: Cincinnati Moeller, his Class AAA semifinal opponent in Dayton's Welcome Stadium tonight.

"They are what a coach dreams of," Bucci said of the 10-0-0 Crusaders, the defending playoff champions. "They have great running and their passing is superstrong. On defense, they fire people all over."

"They are the best team I've ever seen in the playoffs. We will have to play super defense and control the football against them."

Bucci's squad whipped Moeller 34-7 three years ago on the way to its lone playoff title.

"We don't have the great running back like we did in Ted Bell in 1973," Bucci compared his two teams. "We really have no superstars this time, not a whole lot of major college prospects. But they just keep getting better."

Bucci concedes it gives him a psychological play to be ranked No. 2 behind Moeller going into the showdown. "Naturally, our kids think they're the best. It's a slap in the face to be ranked second," he said. Both are 10-0-0.

In the other Class AAA semifinal tonight, No. 3 Gahanna, 9-0-0, plays eighth-ranked Lakewood St. Edward, 9-1-0, the 1975 playoff title victim of Moeller, in the Akron Rubber Bowl.

In Class A semifinals tonight, third-ranked Newark Catholic, 9-1-0, makes its fourth straight appearance against No. 5 West Jefferson, 8-1-0, at Upper Arlington High School and No. 8 Fostoria St. Wendelin, 7-1-1, tangles with No. 10 Ashtabula St. John's, 5-3-1, at Lorain's Daniel Field.

The Class AA semifinalists wait until Saturday night with second-ranked Huron, 10-0-0, against ninth-rated Elyria Catholic, 8-1-0, at Baldwin-Wallace College while No. 1 New Lexington, 10-0-0, faces No. 3 Brookville, 10-0-0, in Welcome Stadium.

The championship schedule in the Rubber Bowl next weekend has the AAA finale at 7:30 p.m. Friday night, Nov. 26, the A windup at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 27, followed three hours later by the AA showdown.

Cullinan winner of Latonia feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Cullinan N rushed out of third at the three quarter pole, darted to the outside and outlasted Edgewood Merlin to win the featured pace at Latonia Thursday night.

The half-length victory over the mile course paid $11.00, $4.60 and $3.40. Edgewood Merlin paid $6.40 and $3.20. The show horse was Star Tassle at $3.20.

The daily double paid $31.20 on the 3-1 combination of Princess Peggy and GS Dream.

A crowd of 1117 wagered $112,882.

Chiefs host Bengals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs will have the home field advantage when they host the Cincinnati Bengals Sunday. And that's not saying much.

The Chiefs are winless in five previous regular season outings at home this year, and the odds are against them improving on their 3-7 National Football League record.

SCOL cage preview slated Tuesday

The South Central Ohio League will open its cage season this Tuesday, November 23, with the third annual SCOL preview.

The seven SCOL member schools plus one outsider will take the court at Washington C.H. for two eight-minute quarters.

The first match pits Glen Este against Greenfield McClain at 6:45 p.m. The order for the remainder of the games is Wilmington and Circleville at 7:30, Miami Trace and Madison Plains at 8:15, and Washington C.H. and Hillsboro at 9:00.

The tickets, according to Blue Lion athletic director Jon Creamer, are $1 for both students and adults presale. The tickets, which let the holder see all four games, will be $1.50 at the door.

These games are strictly exhibition and have no outcome on the regular season.

Miami Trace begins its regular season on the road as they travel to Lancaster for their first game on November 27. The Lions begin their season at home versus Madison Plains.

McKeon new A's manager

OAKLAND (AP) — For the 14th time since purchasing the A's franchise in 1961, Charles O. Finley has changed managers, and Jack McKeon says he is "really very thrilled" to have been chosen.

McKeon, former manager of the Kansas City Royals who piloted Atlanta's Richmond farm club in the International League last season, was given a one-year contract to lead talent-depleted Oakland.

"It's gonna take a little patience," McKeon said Thursday in a telephone interview after returning to his home in Burlington, N.C. "We'll probably have to force-feed a few young prospects into the lineup."

"But you know Charlie. He'll find some way of getting some pretty good ballplayers. He's done it in the past, and he will do it again."

The A's have lost several star players who helped them win three straight World Series from 1972-4, most of them during the season just ended when they played out their options.

McKeon, who will be 46 Tuesday, said he was invited to Chicago where Finley offered him the job at a luncheon Thursday. Later in the day, Finley released the news from the A's office here.

McKeon managed in the minors for 18 years before going to Kansas City in 1973 when the Royals finished second to the A's in the American League West. Kansas City slid to fifth in 1974, and McKeon was fired in July, 1975. At the end of the 1975 season, he scouted the Boston Red Sox in the playoffs for Finley.

Gullett signs with Yanks;
$2 million, six years

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson closed the book on Don Gullett Thursday, with anguish and disillusionment.

"The name will be dropped. I will never bring his name up again," said Anderson.

"Cincinnati is going to carry on," said Anderson, admitting he was "a little shocked" after learning that the Reds' ace lefthander had jumped to the New York Yankees for a six-year contract worth an estimated $2 million.

The loss clearly cut Anderson deeply. Despite indications that Gullett and his attorney Jerry Kapstein were cool to last-minute overtures from the Reds front office, Anderson was optimistic to the end that the differences might be settled.

"I've always been very strong on loyalty and I always felt there is a lot more to life than money," said Anderson.

Gullett, 25, was nearing greatness after six years with the Reds, who made him their No. 1 draft choice in 1969. He joins the team the Reds humiliated during a four-game sweep last month that produced a second straight World Series title.

Reds outfielder Ken Griffey said the loss doesn't dash the Reds chances for a third world championship in a row.

Nor does he consider Gullett a traitor.

"I don't have any hard feelings," said Griffey. "In fact I'm happy for him. There's nothing wrong with a guy getting security. But I think we can win it without him."

Griffey doesn't feel the addition of Gullett swings the pendulum in the Yankees favor as baseball's next super team.

"As far as I'm concerned, the best team did not win the American League last year. They might be buying the best talent, but they still have to put it all together on the field. Nobody can say we bought two straight world championships."

Rookie righthander Pat Zachry, who stepped into the breach and won 14 games when Gullett spent most of the season disabled, said the development "puts a damper" on Cincinnati's depth-thin pitching staff. "We just got by without him."

Zachry said the lucrative package emphasizes the fact that baseball "is a business and we are valuable commodities."

Anderson, speaking from a phone booth at Los Angeles International Airport, said he holds no animosity toward the 25-year-old lefthander. Gullett was the only member of the world champions to play out his option.

"The only thing that I hope is someday Don will be able to look back and say he made the right decision."

Anderson said he is confident the Reds' front office "will look over everything and come up with something. Some way, we'll replace him." He said the Cincinnati farm system lacks a top lefthander with the seasoning to immediately fill the void left by Gullett.

The loss of Gullett likely means the Reds will swing an off-season trade to replace the fireballing lefthander.

With Miami Trace heading the list, Fayette County placed 16 first team selections of the 1976 All-South Central Ohio League football team.
The Panthers, who crushed all comers this season, landed 13 players on the team while Washington C.H. claimed the other three.
Wilmington grabbed six positions on the all-league team. Circleville placed four players on the team while Greenfield McClain had two. Hillsboro and Madison Plains each had one player named.
Miami Trace also claimed the honorary offensive and defensive captains on the team. Center Sam Grooms was selected the captain of the offensive unit while Rex Coe, a cornerback, won the selection as honorary captain of the defense.
Four players were named to the first team on both offense and defense. Circleville's Harl Stevenson was selected as an offensive guard and a defensive down lineman. The Tigers also had Brian Price, named an offensive tackle and a defensive linebacker. Coe, in addition to being named cornerback, was selected as a running back. Wilmington's Gary Williams was named a defensive deep back and the kicking specialist.

In the offensive backfield are two runners who crossed the 1000-yard barrier and one other who came close. Coe and Wilmington's Bruce McKee each ran for more than 1000 yards. Dan Gifford of Miami Trace ran for 890 yards this season.
The offense is led by quarterback Art Schlichter. The junior signal-caller accounted for over 2000 yards total offense this season and was named the Ohio southeastern district back of the year.
There were a total of 20 seniors on the SCOL's top team. Seven juniors made the squad and Trace's Glen Cobb was the lone sophomore picked.
Greenfield McClain landed seven players on the second team. Circleville had five players on the second team, Washington C.H. had four, Wilmington had three, and Miami Trace and Madison Plains each had one. Hillsboro did not receive any second team placements.
The team members were honored last night at the All SCOL banquet. Also honored were the members of the all-league golf team and the all-league girls volleyball team.

Baldwin-Wallace faces Wittenberg Saturday
BEREA, Ohio (AP) — The grounding of Baldwin-Wallace's high-flying offense is the chief task facing Wittenberg Saturday when the two teams square off in the Ohio Athletic Conference Championship game.
"Their offense is very sophisticated," said Wittenberg Coach Dave Maurer, whose team dropped a 19-0 decision to Baldwin-Wallace here last month. "They run exceptionally well and have a great passing threat — they keep your defense off balance."
Garland may sign
Garland, 26, only 2-5 in 1975, was among the most effective pitchers in the American League last season, posting a 20-7 mark with a 2.67 ERA.

Bengals, Chiefs set collision at KC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three years ago, Vince Costello worked at ways to shut down offenses facing the Cincinnati Bengals. This week he tries his luck at stopping his old team.
"There's no question that Vince is a great asset to them this week," said Cincinnati coach Bill Johnson Wednesday as the Bengals readied for Sunday's National Football League meeting with the air-minded Kansas City Chiefs.
Costello spent six years as the Bengals linebacker before moving on to the Miami Dolphins and Kansas City after helping Cincinnati to a 10-4 season in 1973.
Now he is the defensive coordinator of the 3-7 Chiefs, who are slowly trying to build a defense to match their high-powered offense.
"He knows our system, our audibles and our offensive structure. Being well acquainted with out personnel, he knows what they like to do."
"It's something we have to think about," said Johnson.
Costello, who succeeded Bill Arnsparger as Miami's defensive boss, was the first assistant appointed by Chiefs coach Paul Wiggins a year ago.
While the Bengals offense tries to shake off two straight mediocre first-half outings, the Cincinnati defense must corral the No. 1 passing team in the NFL.

"They have a potent passing attack," said Johnson. "They do a great job of cleverly disguising their pass patterns."
The Chiefs are averaging almost 230 yards passing per game but the defense is giving up 30 points per outing.
"We can expect to see a lot of deep patterns," said Johnson. Quarterback Mike Livingston has completed 57 per cent of his passes for nearly 2,100 yards. His chief targets are fullback McArthur Lane, who already has 43 receptions; and Walter White and Larry Brunson.

Spark's New Book Is In Good Form

THE TAKEOVER. By Muriel Spark. Viking. 266 Pages. $8.95.

The times and the mores are drenched in decadence in Muriel Spark's latest book, "The Takeover."

Mrs. Spark's own mystical blend of religion and the supernatural emerges this time as cult worship near modern day Rome, reminiscent of the competitive deity factions of the pre-Christian world.

One cult rises up to pay tribute to the legendary Roman goddess of fertility, Diana, while another cult of sorts fawns and feeds upon Maggie Radcliffe Tullio-Friole, a jet-setting American high priestess of the beautiful life and its attendant wealth and power.

Hubert Mallindaime, who claims to be a descendant of Diana, sets up a new "religion" in her honor at Nemi, the grove where the Temple of Diana once stood. At the same time, Hubert mobilizes all of his guile to take over as much of Maggie's fortune as possible.

Maggie has something to tempt just about everyone — original art, priceless antiques and jewels for the stealing; houses, land and corporations for the swindling; and a lover and husband for the luring — and most of the characters get into the action.

And the action is there but it's subtle. It borders on the complex and the sophisticated in setting, characters and language. The excitement of wondering whether Maggie will be completely consumed in a frenzy of money and power-crazed madness lasts throughout "The Takeover."

Mrs. Spark's skillful interweaving of ancient mythology with the contemporary idol worship of the super-rich and the would-be rich makes for original and absorbing reading.

Moderating trend continues

Inflation reports improve slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices rose three-tenths of a per cent in October, the government said today. It was the smallest increase in seven months as the nation's inflation rate continued its moderating trend.

The increase in the Consumer Price Index followed a rise of four-tenths of a per cent in September and monthly advances of five-tenths of a per cent during the June-August period.

The Labor Department said October's price increase was the smallest since a two-tenths of a per cent rise last March. Over the past 12 months, retail prices have risen 5.3 per cent, marking the smallest increase since the 12-month period ending in April 1973, when they rose 5.1 per cent.

In a separate report, the department said the purchasing power of the average worker's paycheck rose last month after declining in August and September.

Today's economic reports were bright spots in an otherwise bleak picture of high unemployment and slow economic growth.

Wholesale industrial prices, which are influential in setting the over-all inflation trend, have been rising steadily since May. However, these higher wholesale prices have not yet shown at the retail level.

In October, the consumer price index stood at 173.3, meaning that a market basket of goods and services costing $100 in 1967 now costs $173.30. The index is not adjusted to discount seasonal influences, as are the percentage increases.

Alan Greenspan, President Ford's chief economist, tended to discount the wholesale price trend in a speech Thursday to the Rubber Manufacturers Association. He said "There is just no corroborating evidence" to support the idea of a new outburst of inflation.

Greenspan said the long-term inflation rate is slowing down and, in what appeared to be a warning to President-elect Jimmy Carter, predicted that the downward trend will continue if the government reduces its budget deficit by following "sensible fiscal and monetary policies."

Greenspan also acknowledged that the economic slowdown has continued longer than expected, but he said there is no danger of a recession.

Carter has said he may ask for a tax cut if the economy doesn't show more strength by January.

Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board said Thursday that conditions don't appear bad enough at this time to warrant a tax cut to stimulate the economy.

"I see no advantage in a tax cut at the present time," he said in a speech Thursday to the U.S. League of Savings Associations in New York.

Meanwhile, the Commerce Department reported that the economy was even weaker last summer than preliminary estimates indicated.

The Gross National Product, or the total output of goods and services, grew at an annual rate of 3.8 per cent during the July-September quarter. That was lower than the initial estimate last month of a 4 per cent growth rate, the rate generally considered sufficient to keep up with normal population growth.

Coffee Break . . .

THE DEADLINE for entering floats or other parade units in the 1976 Christmas parade is Monday, Nov. 22.

Anyone wishing to participate in the parade must notify the Chamber of Commerce by 5 p.m. Monday. The float need not be finished or the unit described in detail, but a space must be reserved in the parade lineup.

The telephone number at the Chamber office is 335-0761.

The Chamber would also like to invite the public to the finals in the parade royalty competition Monday night.

Six finalists in each division will appear before the panel of judges at 7 p.m. Monday in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria.

THE CHRISTMAS spirit has hit the Carnegie Public Library in Washington C.H.

Eric Halverson, library director, said no fines will be assessed on books returned late to the library during the week of November 29-December 4.

Halverson said the "fine free" week is really an expression of the Christmas spirit when considering the cost of hardcover books today.

When a hardcover book is not returned it costs the library an average of $16.19 per volume, Halverson said.

MRS. JEAN King, a third grade teacher at Eastside Elementary School, really believes she has a "winning team" as a class this year. She says it isn't a football team or a basketball team, but a "good working for their school" team.

In September, the class won the honor of bringing in the most memberships (143) for the Eastside Elementary School Parent-Teacher Organization. For this, they won a $10 prize.

Then during the recent November carnival, the class received the honor of helping to make their room candidate, Joelle Lipscomb, the carnival queen. They did this by selling $342.50 worth of raffle tickets, breaking previous school records. Each pupil sold tickets, Mrs. King said.

"These 29 children are among our future citizens and I feel sure they will make good ones, because of their unselfish efforts in working for their school, and when older, their community," Mrs. King added.

Makeshift weapon used

Prisoner hurts deputy in jail escape attempt

A Fayette County sheriff's deputy was injured early Friday when he was struck on the head by a prisoner using a makeshift weapon.

Sheriff's Deputy Thomas E. Rodgers, of 1120 N. North St., was treated and released from Fayette County Memorial Hospital for injuries suffered when he was reportedly struck on the head with a club made from a broom handle by James Radcliff, 21, of Delaware, Ohio.

Rodgers, a jailer-dispatcher, was treated for a blow to the head and pulled shoulder and back muscles after the incident which occurred at 1:39 a.m. Friday at the Fayette County jail.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson said Radcliff was being held in the county jail on a six-month term for violation of a Fayette County Juvenile Court order.

According to information received by sheriff's department personnel, Radcliff and another prisoner, who is being held on numerous burglary charges, had planned to overpower the jailer-dispatcher and escape. However, Rodgers was able to overpower the prisoner and call for assistance, Sheriff Thompson said.

Washington C.H. Police Sgt. Robert Massie and patrolman Anthony Wilson responded to Rodgers' call for assistance along with Sheriff Thompson who was in the northern portion of the county. By the time the other officers had arrived, Rodgers had succeeded in placing Radcliff in a holding cell.

Sheriff Thompson said officers recently averted an attempt to smuggle weapons into the county jail, but he disclosed no other details.

Rodgers, 21, began working at the Fayette County Sheriff's Department as a jailer-dispatcher in August. He was working alone at the time of the attempted escape by Radcliff.

Sheriff Thompson and Fayette County prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger and assistant prosecutor John H. Rozmann are conferring today on the possibility of filing felonious assault on an officer and attempted escape charges against both prisoners.

According to the report, weapons used to strike the officer were made from cleaning equipment used at the jail.

Sheriff Thompson said several prisoners have been transported to state prisons during the past week and the present county jail population is only 15 persons.

Patty Hearst may be freed on bond

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Patricia Hearst was wisked out of a federal prison here in the dead of night, an official at the Metropolitan Correctional Center said today.

Her destination was unknown, but with $500,000 bond posted by her family to free her while awaiting trial in Southern California, she needed only the approval of a San Francisco judge to be free for the first time in more than a year while she appeals her bank robbery conviction.

The official at the correctional center, who declined to have his name used, said Miss Hearst was driven away by two federal marshals about 4:50 a.m. EST.

Members of a television camera crew stationed at the prison said they saw a black-and-white car speed away in the darkness.

U.S. District Court Judge William Orrick, who in September sentenced Miss Hearst to seven years in prison, was expected to rule today on a request that the 22-year-old newspaper heiress be released in her parents' custody under a secret security plan.

Orrick must decide whether she is still a flight risk. She had been ordered held without bail after her capture in September 1975.

The only other obstacle to Miss Hearst's freedom was removed on Thursday when her father and uncle signed a $500,000 personal surety bond on pending Los Angeles charges of kidnap, assault and robbery.

Miss Hearst faces a January 10 trial in that case involving a wild shooting at an Inglewood, Calif., sporting goods store that occurred while she was a fugitive member of the terrorist Symbionese Liberation Army.

Her father, Randolph A. Hearst, president of the San Francisco Examiner, and his twin brother, David, president of the William Randolph Hearst Foundation, pledged their assets to obtain Miss Hearst's release.

Attorney Albert Johnson asked Superior Court Judge William Ritz to reduce the $500,000 bail, but the judge said he would wait to see whether Orrick sets bail.

"If she is released by the San Francisco court, and if bail is substantial in that case, I certainly would consider reduction in bond," he said.

Miss Hearst, now imprisoned at the Metropolitan Corrections Center in San Diego, has spent 14 months behind bars, including time served during her celebrated trial for the 1974 $10,050 robbery of San Francisco's Hibernia Bank.

STARS, STRIPES, AND WIRES — Although a prevalence of utility pole wires often impedes the scenic vista of the downtown Washington C.H. area, local residents can still pledge allegiance relatively easy as this illustration of the Paul H. Hughey American Legion Post 25 on N. Fayette Street flag shows.

Ministrike hits GM; talks resume

DETROIT (AP) — About 80,000 United Auto Workers struck 16 key General Motors plants today as bargainers, meeting through the night, closed in on a new national contract.

"It was simply a matter of their running out of time," said one source close to the talks. He said the two sides were "very close," adding a settlement could come "within hours."

While the 16 selected plants were idled effective at midnight, about 100 other GM plants across the country continued operating in compliance with orders from the UAW.

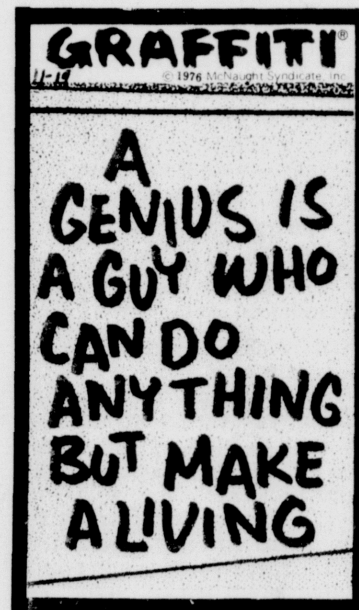

Company officials said the walkout could cripple GM's sprawling 21-state production network within a week and industry analysts have said a GM shutdown would also start hurting the U.S. economy in about a week.

Three assembly or body plants in Michigan became the first casualties of the walkout's ripple effect and were to be closed today. Some 13,000 workers would be affected by those shutdowns.

The selective, seven-state walkout — concentrated in the Midwest and particularly Michigan — came after after negotiators failed before a midnight deadline to fashion an agreement covering 390,000 hourly GM employees at more than 110 plants.

"The UAW-General Motors contract has expired," UAW President Leonard Woodcock and Vice President Irving Bluestone announced in a brief prepared statement issued to reporters as the strike deadline passed.

Employment of the ministrike strategy by the UAW is a first for the union over a national agreement. It also marks the first time the UAW has waged two major auto strikes in one year since it first won collective bargaining rights in 1937.

Finley resigns from post

Reed new fair board secretary

Elmer N. Reed, 619 Fairway Drive, has been appointed to succeed George Finley as secretary of the Fayette County Agricultural Society (county fair board).

Finley, who has held the post since 1968, announced his retirement as secretary due to health reasons before the November board meeting.

According to Finley, Reed will officially take over the duties as fair board secretary sometime in December. The past-secretary is in the process of discussing the responsibilities and duties of the post with Reed.

"I'm finishing out the annual report that goes to Columbus," Finley said. "He (Reed) will be taking over shortly."

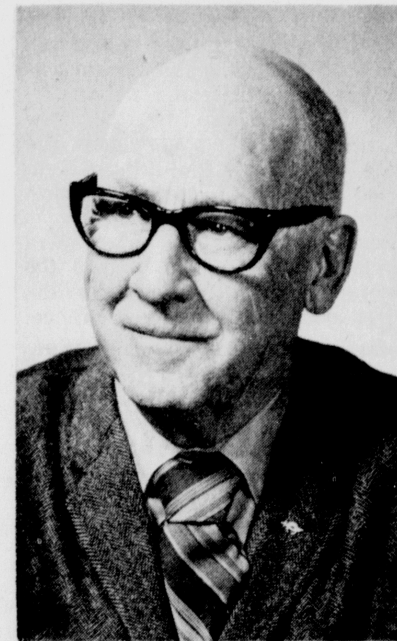

Finley said the secretary's job includes taking care of bookkeeping and financial matters for the fair board and supervising the bookings of the Mahan Building and other Fayette County Fairgrounds property.

The fair board also announced that Norman Schiering would fill the unexpired term of Robert L. Cannon as a board member. Cannon resigned the position after seven years on the board.

The 67-year-old Reed retired from Armco Steel Corp. Metal Products Division plant in Washington C.H. two years ago. The former industrial engineer spent 30 years with the corsecretary in 1968 succeeding Dwight (Buck) Bell. He retired from a supervisory position with the Dayton Power and Light Co. in 1969 after 38 years of service. He joined the Washington C.H. operation in 1931 as a stockkeeper and was promoted to supervisor in 1947.

Spain set for election

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The ultraconservative parliament that dictator Francisco Franco left behind him has bowed to pressure for democratic reform and cleared the way for Spain's first free elections in 40 years.

The Cortes, or parliament, by a vote of 425 to 59 with 13 abstentions on Thursday approved government legislation abolishing the appointed, one-house legislature and replacing it with an elected, two-house body.

A two-thirds majority was needed for approval, but the winning margin was much greater.

The vote came two days before the first anniversary of Franco's death, on Nov. 20, 1975.

A national referendum will be called to ratify the Cortes' action, and Premier Adolfo Suarez has promised that the new parliament will be elected by next June.

The 44-year-old premier worked out a last-minute compromise with the centrist-rightist Popular Alliance which threatened to abstain on the vote unless plans for distribution of the seats in the lower house by proportional representation were modified.

These critics demanded that proportional representation, in which the seats are allotted in proportion to the total nationwide vote for each party, be replaced by representation according to districts, with each district race decided by a majority vote.

The compromise retains proportional representation as the basic system. But it provides that a party must get a still-undetermined minimum vote to get any seats. And it guarantees a minimum number of representatives — also still undecided — from each of Spain's 50 provinces, regardless of their size.

The lower house of the new parliament will have 350 members. The senate will have 207, four-fifths of them elected by majority vote and one-fifth appointed by King Juan Carlos.

Meanwhile, local newspapers reported that the exiled head of the Communist party, Santiago Carrillo, arrived in Madrid from exile in France.

Carter silent on tax cut plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders who met with President-elect Jimmy Carter did not team up to urge an economy-boosting tax cut and Carter gave no indication of a decision, one of the participants says.

Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., said the problem of stimulating business and reducing unemployment was extensively discussed during the three-hour session Wednesday in Lovejoy, Ga., where Carter met with Democratic leaders.

"I did not detect a unanimity of the leadership concerning a tax cut," Mahon said.

Carter has said that if the economy does not begin improving by January, there is a "strong possibility" that he would ask for a tax cut to stimulate it.

Mahon, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee and a fiscal conservative, said he and others told Carter that a major consideration should be restoring business confidence and that Carter appointments would be important in this regard.

"The business community and people generally are uneasy, wondering, apprehensive," Mahon said in an interview Thursday. "If he could get some good strong people for secretary of the Treasury, director of management and budget and secretary of commerce, it would have a stabilizing influence...."

Carter has been receiving conflicting advice as to whether he should support a tax cut, a boost in government spending, or neither.

"He didn't talk like a freewheeling big spender," Mahon said of the Carter meeting. "He talked of a balanced budget over the long range and his desire to eliminate waste, and generally I thought it was a good down-to-earth discussion."

Mahon said Carter gave the congressional visitors his private telephone number and promised that calls at any time would be put through or promptly returned.

"The country is weary of the controversy between the president and Congress," he said. "For the White House and Congress to be of the same party imposes an awesome responsibility on the Democratic leadership. The buck stops with the Democrats."

School tax woes near crisis levels

CHICAGO (AP) — Voter resistance to school tax hikes has grown so strong that school districts face severe curtailment of services — or even collapse — unless they get more federal and state assistance, big-city school superintendents say.

"Don't think you can get the cities straightened out if you don't get the schools straightened out," Vincent Reed, superintendent of Washington, D.C., public schools told a meeting of heads of 27 major city school systems here.

The three-day conference of the Council of the Great City Schools, which opened Thursday, was called to develop urban educational priorities that the superintendents hope President-elect Jimmy Carter will adopt.

Sam Husk, council executive vice president, said he would like the federal government to add $3 billion to $4 billion to the nearly $5 billion it now pays of the $60-billion annual tab for public education.

Carter has said he favors bolstering federal educational aid by eliminating the ban on using revenue-sharing funds for schools. He also proposed creation of a separate Department of Education.

Speakers at the meeting cited the recent shutdown of several small districts in Ohio and Oregon after voters refused to pass higher tax levies. They also pointed to the struggle of many larger districts to remain solvent.

"It's created a situation in Detroit whereby we have to constantly battle just to keep our heads above water,"

said that city's school chief, Arthur Jefferson.

He said Detroit voters this month rejected for the second time this year a tax increase that would have brought in an estimated $38 million to the schools.

Jefferson attributed the resistance to massive urban unemployment, the "lost credibility" of schools as test scores plummet and the concentration of the poor and aged in central cities.

William Pearson, governmental relations director of St. Louis public schools, said his district tried at least half a dozen times before finally passing a tax levy last spring.

Denver Supt. Louis Kishkunas said voters in his city routinely have turned down school tax increases, adding that "this year we had to cut $11 million out of our budget because of it."

Legislative bills balked by printer

the problem today, one way or another.

Biggest among the bills that should be on Gov. James A. Rhodes' desk by now are two which give pay raises to officials throughout Ohio's 88 counties and expand an earlier law that implemented charitable bingo.

The others permit the state to sell a condemned building near the Statehouse, and bring state law into conformance with actual practices in the handling of federal revenue sharing funds.

Thomas Winters, clerk of the House, said he was hopeful that the strike at National Graphics would be settled at a meeting scheduled Thursday night and added: "Otherwise, we'll have to look at some alternatives." One alternative he mentioned was sending the bills, along with the Senate Journal for Nov. 9, to another union printer.

But as an afterthought, Winters said he might not be able to give the work to any firm other than National Graphics because of its state contract. "We have a problem," he said. The Senate Journal for the one-day legislative session also got caught in printers' walkout.

John M. McElroy, the governor's top aide on federal revenue sharing programs, said he wasn't sure if legal complications could arise as a result of the bills' effective dates being delayed. But McElroy, an expert on constitutional law, said "there could be." Any part of a new law, including its effective date, could conceivably be challenged, he said, in response to a question.

The dilemma appears to be moot on the county pay raise bill, providing it is signed by the governor by Dec. 31. It carries an immediately effective emergency clause, and in addition, officials getting the raises are barred from receiving hikes until their new terms start the first of next year.

Also carrying an emergency clause is the bill that added certain groups to those already permitted to run bingo games for charity under state attorney general regulation.

The other measures carry regular effective dates—90 days after signing by the governor.

Winters said there is no legal time limit for bills to be handled by the printer except that the contract requires that they be returned within "reasonable time."

Soviets reportedly building jet tanker for fast bombers

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military intelligence specialists believe the Russians are working on a new tanker plane that would enable the Soviet Backfire bomber to strike targets in the United States and return home.

The development could complicate U.S.-Soviet attempts to set new strategic arms ceilings, analysts say.

The new tanker, a variant of Russia's big four-engine Il-76 commercial cargo plane, may be ready for use by the Soviet Air Force in 10 months, according to U.S. intelligence estimates.

The supersonic Backfire is one of what President Ford last month called "gray area weapons systems...." creating some problems" in negotiations toward a new U.S.-Soviet agreement limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

U.S. negotiators want the Backfire included under any new strategic arms limitation talks agreement. The Russians have resisted this, contending the Backfire is not an intercontinental-range weapon.

The Backfire is credited with an unrefueled combat radius of about 3,500 miles. Disagreements in the U.S. intelligence community have centered on whether the Russians intend to use the Backfire as an intercontinental weapon.

But the appearance of a new tanker aircraft likely would be taken as evidence that the Russians plan to build a fleet of tankers and use their refueling capacity to extend the Backfire's range. Then the bomber could reach targets virtually anywhere in the United States — and fly back home.

Air Force Secretary Thomas C. Reed said last summer that "every Backfire we see has a refueling probe on it."

Bulletin

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and auto giant General Motors Corp. reached agreement on a new national contract today, about 12 hours after 80,000 workers began an unprecedented "mini-strike" at 16 key GM plants, the union announced.

Stocks make good gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead again today after the government reported the smallest increase in consumer prices in seven months.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up more than two points after early trades.

And stocks advancing in price on the New York Stock Exchange led those declining by a nearly 4-1 margin.

Trading was active in the early going, with the NYSE ticker tape five minutes late at one point in recording trades.

The labor Department reported as the session opened that its consumer price index rose three-tenths of a per cent in October, following a four-tenths of a per cent increase in September. It was the smallest increase since March.

Separately, the department said that the purchasing power of the average worker's paycheck rose last month after declining in August and September.

Early prices today included City Investing, up 1/4 at 13 3/4; General Electric, up 1/2 at 52; and Vetco Inc., up 3/4 at 18 3/4.

On Thursday, the Dow Jones industrial average surged ahead 12.05 points to close at 950.13.

NYSE issues advancing in price led those declining by an 11-3 margin.

The exchange's composite index of all its listed common stocks rose .70 to 54.55, as traders exchanged 24 million shares, the highest volume level since Sept. 23.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose 1.12 to 99.41.

Gene Hackman seriously hurt

LONDON (AP) — American movie actor Gene Hackman is being treated in a luxury private hospital in London after reportedly receiving serious back and leg injuries on location in Morocco, a hospital spokeswoman says.

The official of the Wellington Hospital, one of the most exclusive private clinics in Britain, said Thursday that Hackman, 46, was admitted several days ago.

She declined to give any details and would not confirm press reports that the actor had been badly injured on the set of "March or Die" last weekend. She also declined comment on press reports that Hackman's injuries were so bad there have been fears he may never walk again.

A Washington C.H. man is listed in "critical" condition in Fayette County Memorial Hospital following a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the chest, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

The report stated that a Fayette County sheriff's cruiser secured blood relayed by the Franklin County Sheriff's Department to the U.S. 62 and I-71 junction at 10:50 p.m. Thursday.

The blood was then transported to Fayette County Memorial Hospital for the treatment of the injured local man.

The Washington C.H. Police Department would not release any details of the incident.

Plantiffs assessed costs in Bloomingburg squabble

The court costs and defense counsel fees incurred during an October 28 suit in Fayette County Common Pleas Court seeking the Bloomingburg mayor's removal from office, have been assessed to the plaintiffs.

Madison County Probate Court Judge Robert W. Murray, who heard the three-hour litigation, ruled that the $2,470 in court costs and legal fees arising from the hearing be assessed to the "87 qualified electors of the Village of Bloomingburg," as co-plaintiffs in the case.

All 87 Bloomingburg residents, including members of the Bloomingburg village council signed a petition earlier this year seeking Mayo Max E. Grim's removal from office.

On October 28, after Judge Murray listened to the four charges brought against Grim by the plaintiffs, he dismissed the case in Fayette County Common Pleas Court.

The evidence presented concerned a charge against Grim of conflict of interest and three charges of failing to carry out the duties of the mayor's office.

Blacks fight bar exam failures

CLEVELAND (AP) — Four black law graduates of Cleveland State who failed their bar exams sued Thursday to try to block swearing in ceremonies for more than 1,200 persons who did get passing grades this week.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas Lambros denied the request for a temporary restraining order against today's swearing in at Columbus.

Lambros' opinion indicated that the four failed to convince the court that they would be irreparably harmed by the induction of those who passed the exam. The suit charged that the Ohio Supreme Court and the Board of Bar Examiners historically has discriminated against blacks. Of the 1,350 persons who took the exam, 89 per cent passed, but only 40 per cent of the blacks taking the test got passing grades, the petition said.

One of the four, Lawrence Kaigler of Cleveland, a Vietnam War veteran, said he was "shocked beyond belief" that he failed the test by 6½ points. He blamed the scoring on arbitrariness and inexactness of the grading system. Another plaintiff, James Gay of Cleveland, said he had taken the test three times and failed each time by 4½ points or less.

"I am as competent as any applicant who scored 270," said Gay in his affidavit. He said his score was 265½.

The petition alleged that the written exam given last July was not professionally developed and was graded in an arbitrary and capricious manner.

Casinos in Atlantic City

Now that New Jersey voters have approved casino gambling in Atlantic City, a boom is joyously anticipated by many residents of this ailing resort community. Also by outside interests which expect to cash in on the yen to make a fast buck the easy way. There are those, however, who have a hunch that everything may not come up roses.

Mayor Joseph Lazarow got so carried away on the wave of post-election euphoria that he declared: "I foresee Atlantic City once again becoming the greatest seashore resort in the world. It will once again become the Queen of Resorts and it will have all the dignity and respect befitting a queen."

A little skepticism seems well warranted. If "dignity and respect" is what Mayor Lazarow and others of like mind wanted to restore to their town, they probably are barking up the wrong tree.

There is nothing queenly about the razzle dazzle of Las Vegas, which apparently serves as a model for those who want to make Atlantic City a gambling mecca. Las Vegas offers enticements of a sort. Those enticed are efficiently parted from a lot of their money. But dignity is not what comes to mind when one thinks of the Nevada city, nor is it widely known for generating any particular sense of respect.

The die is cast. Atlantic City seems destined to become another flashy gambling center to which a multitude of tourists will come for a fling. Whether this will be the best thing that ever happened to Atlantic City and the state of New Jersey is, as the saying goes, open to question.

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Lame duck days need a cure

WASHINGTON — It is 71 days until the new president-elect is inaugurated. With a steadily worsening economy in the West, that is a very long time. With the accelerated pace of change so much can happen in that time that the outgoing president will be powerless to act on in view of his limited tenure.

There was a time when a new president was not sworn in until March

4 and when a lame duck Congress met after the November election to indulge in futile oratory. The 20th amendment to the Constitution changed that by fixing the new president's term to begin Jan. 20 with the newly elected Congress to meet on Jan. 3.

This was hailed as a highly progressive change, as indeed it was, since the lame duck session was eliminated and the inauguration of a new president was moved forward by two weeks.

But in view of the greatly enhanced powers of the presidency and the leadership role of the United States in world affairs, the question is whether this interval is not too long.

No one can begrudge Jimmy Carter the vacation — he calls it a working vacation — he is taking at Sea Island, off the coast of his native Georgia. There is a way, however, in which he could advance the pace of international cooperation and contribute to checking the deterioration of the world economy. That would be by designating at the earliest possible moment his Secretary of the Treasury.

Presumably this would be a man familiar with international finance. While he could make no commitments, he could work in close harmony with the retiring Treasury Secretary William Simon.

There would be no reason why he could not travel abroad to meet on an informal basis with central bankers and even with heads of state. This would be a helpful leap forward for the president who in the end must bear the responsibility.

The 20th amendment has an interesting history. It was proposed by Congress on March 2, 1932, at the start of the bitter campaign that year between the incumbent President Herbert Hoover, and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. The hard-fighting senator from Nebraska, the late George W. Norris, had for years pushed an amendment to abolish the futile and often damaging lame duck session.

The ratification of the amendment was completed on Jan. 23, 1933. Franklin Roosevelt had won the election and was to take office the following March 4. What followed, as the country sank into the greatest depression in history, was an extraordinary test of wills.

The unhappy Hoove in the White House wanted to consult with FDR or his principal aides on steps that might be taken to check the swift drop into the abyss.

But Roosevelt was fearful that he would be committed to ameliorative measures insufficient to curb the rising toll of unemployment and business bankruptcies. The overtures from the beleaguered White House were rejected.

When Roosevelt took the oath of office, with the ringing declaration, "we have nothing to fear but fear itself," every bank in the country was closed. The new president was immediately launched on his first hundred days, bringing about the enactment of the whole range of legislation that is the basis for today's Social Security and unemployment insurance.

I do not mean to suggest that anything even as remotely catastrophic as this is in view. Nevertheless, the indicators at home and abroad are far from encouraging. Much of what President Ford had to say about returning the country to prosperity is seen to be just what it was — campaign rhetoric.

President Ford has shown every willingness to cooperate in the transition period. He is an honorable man of the best intentions. Simon, too, would be a willing cooperator at the Treasury. Such consultations would not bind the incoming president. They would be an assurance to the world of some degree of continuity.

Vice President Nelson Rockefeller has set an excellent example. He provided both the president-elect and vice-president elect Walter Mondale with briefing books on his experience in the office and its limitations and potentials. This should prove invaluable. A Rockefeller-Mondale meeting quietly in private would be another advance.

Sailing an uncharted sea for the next 71 days is almost too much to ask of the travelers on the ship called earth. The charts that came out of Jimmy Carter's campaign were defined only in the broadest outline. We need more at this critical moment in history.

The traditional Olympia area ball will be held Jan. 12. Tickets are $35 a couple or $17.50 apiece — as compared with $25 a couple four years ago.

Other parties will be held in Vancouver, Aberdeen, Port Angeles, Bellingham, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma and southeastern Washington. In most cases, the tickets will be $25 a couple.

"MISTER JIMMY - MISS LILLIAN SAYS, NOT ON YOUR VACATION!"

'Prairie privy rule' stir shakes up OSHA

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal safety agency that is drawing up an outhouse regulation has learned a lesson from the uproar over what it calls "the privy on every prairie" rule, an official says.

The experience for the Labor Department's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) appears to have been as sobering as one of those fabled "trips out back" on a frosty morning.

"I'm sure that OSHA learned a lot" from the flap, said Maynard Dolloff, OSHA's special adviser for agricultural affairs.

The furor, which erupted last June, resulted in a congressional curb on OSHA's authority and an awareness within the agency of what is needed to restore its credibility, he said.

OSHA also drew flak for its farm safety booklets — said to be aimed at barely literate laborers — advising, among other things, that wet manure is slippery and that farmers should "speak softly to cows."

OSHA originally planned to require field toilets and drinking facilities within five minutes' reach of any farmworker. Farmers from around the country ridiculed the proposal as costly and impractical. They said nature's call could best be met in more informal ways or by driving to toilet accommodations.

The privy rule is still being considered, but Dolloff said it probably will apply only to such farms as fruit-growing operations and large truck farms, which frequently hire large numbers of migrant workers.

Assistant Labor Secretary Morton Corn soon will hold hearings in farm communities on the proposal.

"He's going to try to get some sense in that thing," said Dolloff, a former Maine agricultural commissioner brought to OSHA 11 months ago by Corn. "Anyone with any common sense should have known it was never meant to apply to prairies. But it's true it wasn't clearly worded."

A Skubitz-sponsored amendment that became law last month prohibits OSHA from inspecting farms with less than 10 workers and exempts those farms from other OSHA rules about agriculture.

Until some years ago, weathered oil derricks along the highway between Tiffin and Findlay recalled the oil boom of the 1890s and early 1900's, when large quantities of oil were pumped from the surrounding oil fields and there was more natural gas than could be used.

Around 1900 it was a common sight to see great gas flares burning night and day in the farmyards and fields—tragic waste of one of the state's great natural resources.—AP

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Neighbor delivers a heart to heart

DEAR ABBY: The letter from TOO MUCH OF A GOOD THING, concerning a neighbor who was wearing out her welcome, is similar to the problem I encountered. This neighbor would pop in on me often, and always without notice. Sometimes I was entertaining a relative or another friend, and frequently I had a lot of work to do and no time for a social visit. I became frustrated and didn't know how to tell her without hurting her feelings.

Finally, in desperation, I took this nice neighbor into my bedroom and closed the door. Then I explained that I really liked her and valued her friendship, but there were times when I wanted to be alone with my friends or family, and as a favor to me to please phone to see if it was all right to come over.

She was very understanding, and thanked me for being honest with her. Now she visits me less often and always phones first. Today we are the best of friends.

Abby, if we would all speak our minds honestly and with love, we could accomplish much.

G.S. IN VA.

DEAR G.S.: Read on for a letter from a woman who lacked your compassion and lived to regret it!

DEAR ABBY: I am a recently retired woman who once enjoyed a successful and fulfilling business career. I've remained single by choice.

I live alone, but I'm far from lonely. I have all the friends I want. I like my privacy and have never encouraged visitors to drop in.

The high-rise in which I live has excellent security, and no one gets into the building without being screened.

One evening about 7:30, there was a knock on my door. I wasn't expecting anyone so I asked who was there. It was a widow who lives on my floor, and with whom I had had only a nodding acquaintance. She said she was "lonely," and didn't know what to do with herself, and asked if she could come in and visit for a while.

I told her politely but bluntly that I was busy, and didn't approve of visitors dropping in without phoning first. (I have an unlisted phone number, which I did not give her.) She apologized for bothering me and left.

Abby, I've always felt that people who intrude on others should be treated with the same lack of consideration they give those upon whom they intrude. I felt quite proud of myself for not getting trapped by a bore who would probably be difficult to get rid of.

The next evening a friend telephoned to ask if I knew the woman in my building who had committed suicide the evening before.

If you have already guessed that she was the woman who knocked on my door, you are right.

HARD LESSON LEARNED

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 19, the 324th day of 1976. There are 42 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1863, President Abraham Lincoln delivered his Gettysburg Address.

On this date:
In 1493, Christopher Columbus discovered the island of Puerto Rico. In 1498, the Portuguese navigator, Vasco da Gama, discovered the passage to India around Africa's Cape of Good Hope.

In 1794, the United States and Britain signed the Jay Treaty, adjusting issues left over from the Revolutionary War. In 1831, the 20th American president, James Garfield, was born on a farm near Mentor, Ohio.

In 1919, the U.S. Senate rejected the World War I Treaty of Versailles.

In 1965, a federal jury in Washington fined the American Communist Party $230,000 for failing to register with the government as an agent of the Soviet Union.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson returned to his Texas ranch to recuperate after surgery at Bethesda Naval Hospital near Washington.

Five years ago: U.S. Senator Henry Jackson of Washington announced he was a candidate for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination. One year ago: President Francisco Franco of Spain sank into a deep coma.

Today's birthdays: India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi is 59. Television personality Dick Cavett is 40. Former baseball star Roy Campanella is 55.

Thought for today: "A man is as old as he's feeling, a woman as old as she looks." — Mortimer Collins, English writer, 1827-1876.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington deplored the recent American military reverses in New York at White Plains and Fort Washington. In a letter to his brother, John Augustine Washington, the general wrote: "I am wearied almost to death with the retrograde motion of things ..."

When the federal government decided it could not maintain the National Road it was turned over to the states by sections and in 1928 Ohio and Pennsylvania passed laws for maintenance and accepted completed portions in 1831 and 1934. —AP

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE
Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 20

ARIES (March 21 to April 20)

Your thoughts finally "jell" on a project you've been contemplating. You "put it all together," as they say, and results will prove it.

TAURUS (April 21 to May 21)

Consult with others before making important decisions. Your endurance may be tested, but you are used to tests — and usually pass them with flying colors.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21)

Let certain situations ride now. Forcing issues will do more harm than good. By demonstration, you can let others know that your ideas are practical.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23)

Mixed influences. Avoid overoptimism. Too rosy an outlook could cause you to overlook small but vital details. The p.m. brings an interesting bit of news.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23)

Everyone has to take chances at some time or other, but this is no day for YOU to take unnecessary risks. Day calls for cautious, conservative action.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't change plans or methods without consulting all concerned. Study where changes ARE needed and to what degree. Press for efficiency.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Some surprising events indicated — perhaps a completely unexpected visit from an old friend or relative from afar.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23)

A day in which to keep your own counsel. Otherwise, it would be only too easy to involve yourself in discussions or other communications which get you nowhere.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A short trip may bring some surprising results — even, possibly, a complete change in your present set-up.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

The success of an old friend will certainly call for a celebration. Do YOUR part to make it a truly convivial one.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Stars now put the accent on romance. You should hear, directly or indirectly, some highly interesting news about an old flame.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20)

If planning a trip, be sure that you don't go overboard financially. Get all schedules, costs, etc. in writing. Better plan on some "extras," too.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with both mental alertness and manual dexterity. You have a flair for gracious living and have real know-how when it comes to dealing with people separately or collectively. You are often called "lucky," but your luck results from your keen observations, the ability to separate the wheat from the chaff, and an instinct for grasping advantages at just the right time. You are extremely versatile, and many fields are open to your talents; most notably, however, the worlds of law and statesmanship, business organization, science, music, literature and the theater. Try to curb tendency to go to extremes.

Talk angered Jews

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It was the second time that Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, riled American Jews. This time, his comments were in the realm of military opinion. Before, they were, from the facts available, objectively mistaken.

His latest comment that Israel was a military burden to the United States was sharply denounced recently by the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, an umbrella group of 32 national religious and secular Jewish bodies.

It urged President Ford to censure Brown, calling his statement a "reckless and irresponsible" challenge to American foreign policy and its commitment to the security and survival of Israel.

Brown, at a Washington news conference held as a result of the furor, said he was "wholeheartedly" committed to protecting Israel's security. But he insisted that his point — that Israel was a burden — was correct from a narrowly military view, in that Israel draws on U.S. equipment.

His reasoning, however, was sharply disputed in the Jewish reaction. Rabbi Walter Wurzburger, president of the Rabbinical Council of America, said Brown's statement "betrays dismal insensitivity to the vital security interests" of the United States itself.

Various studies have found false the claim that Jews dominate American banking or newspapers. But the notion has persisted since the middle ages when Jews were small-time money lenders, drawn into it as necessary economic middlemen at a time when the church forbade Christians to lend money for interest.

Portrayal of Jews as controllers of money became part of anti-Semitic propaganda, reaching its virulent heights in Nazi Germany.

However, a survey made by the American Jewish Committee in 1973 of 25 of the nation's largest banks outside New York City showed that of 377 senior managers, one was Jewish. Of 3,027 persons in middle management, 38 were Jewish.

Bernardin raps meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Conference of Catholic Bishops will carefully evaluate recommendations made during a big meeting of Catholics in Detroit last week, Archbishop Joseph L. Bernardin of Cincinnati pledged Tuesday.

However, Bernardin, president of the conference, said he felt participants in the meeting attempted too much and "special interest groups advocating particular causes seemed to play a disproportionate role."

The "Call to Action" convention, which drew a cross-section of the nation's more than 45 million Catholics, raised such liberal questions as should priests be allowed to marry and should women be ordained priests.

But they also took more conservative stances on birth control and abortion, choosing to remain fairly close to the present church position of opposing artificial means of birth control and advocating bans on abortion.

Local resident performs service in New York

A Washington C.H. resident was the featured preacher at a morning service held earlier this week in the Grace United Methodist Church of Lindenhurst, N.Y.

Rev. Paul Niswander, 224 Gardner Court, the first pastor of the New York Church, presented the service in commemoration of its 50th anniversary.

Accompanied by his wife, Rev. Niswander also visited friends in Rokonoma, N.Y., a community in which he was a minister from 1929 through 1931.

The Niswanders have been retired since June, 1971.

Art articulation

Mrs. Esther Frye of Xenia, a chalk artist, will be the featured speaker at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church.

Her program, entitled "Gospel in Art," is open to the public, and a social hour will follow the event.

Posy Garden Club learns how to care for house plants

Eleven members of the Posy Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Jess Schlichter for the November meeting. The dining room table was centered with an unusual Thanksgiving arrangement including a large ceramic wild turkey, eucalyptus, Indian corn and a pair of Indian apple-head dolls.

The new president, Mrs. Lyle Hanawalt, conducted a lengthy business meeting. At the recent Region 16 meeting in the Mahan building, Mrs. Hanawalt accepted Regional awards for the club in therapy, program book and single club Flower Show. Six members attended and assisted in various capacities. She also reported on the projects discussed at the Presidents' Council meeting. She gave each members a new program book designed by Mrs. Fern Miller. Mrs. Russell Roberts was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Art Schlichter gave the club a 1977 copy of "Old Farmer's Almanac" which has been published continuously since 1792. It contains planting tables, zodiac secrets etc., and an excellent article about "The Return of the Honkers", by Axel Bong. Not all environmental news is bad as the wild goose population has increased by one million since 1954. This article should be read by interested conservationists.

Mrs. Schlichter made altar arrangements for the Madison Mills United Methodist Church for the harvest season, using dry plant material and grain. The Posy members make arrangements for the altar each Sunday.

The Club members will make hand-crafted tree ornaments to decorate the Christmas tree at the Fayette Center Gallery—in keeping with the times of the antique coverlet show there now. Seven coverlets were loaned by Posy

Garden club members.

The book, "The Forgotten Art of Flowery Cookery," by Leona Woodring Smith, has been given to the Carnegie Public Library by the club.

Mrs. Jess Schlichter, therapy chairman, announced the Fayette Progressive School children will make pine cone turkeys and "bring the outdoors in" by planting a woodland garden in a large fishbowl terrarium. The children will be instructed how to care for this mini-sized greenhouse.

Mrs. Albert Bihl read fall horticulture tips on mulching, staking and proper winter protection of new plants in the garden.

Mrs. Frank Barrett gave the program on "Winter Care of House Plants". If plants are to remain decorative for a long time, one has to get to know and understand them, she said. Many plants are adaptable to home conditions, but their needs of warmth, light, humidity and watering must be considered. Over-watering probably kills more plants than any other thing, and if one has a hot, dry home cacti, succulents and epiphyllum, which have spectacular flowers, must be considered. Avoid over-feeding in winter and watch for insects, she said. The local library has many excellent books on the care of house plants as they are the biggest decorating item of the year. Mrs. Schlichter used her "problem house plants" as an exhibit and received many helpful hints on proper care from the "green thumb" members.

Mrs. Jess Schlichter served a seasonal dessert to Mrs. Roberts, Mrs. Hanawalt, Mrs. Bihl, Mrs. Barrett, Mrs. Lester Haines, Mrs. Lawrence Woods, Mrs. Arthur Schlichter, Mrs. Homer Wilson, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Bernard Edwards.

Mrs. Link BPW speaker

Mrs. Susan Link was speaker for the evening when the Business and Professional Women's Club met at the Washington Country Club. The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Mary Lou Christman, and opened with the Pledge of Allegiance led by Mrs. Sara Echard. Mrs. Edith Long gave the invocation. Mrs. Link's talk was entitled "Opening the Doors"—which was about the achievements and accomplishments of women of the past and present.

Tuesday's meeting was planned by the Public Relations Committee, with Miss Norita Craycraft and Susan Link as co-chairmen. The remaining committee members are Mrs. Lillian Ervin, Mrs. Lillian Schneider, Mrs. Long, Mrs. Louise Rodgers, Mrs. Thelma Fenton and Mrs. Mary Morris.

Musical entertainment was provided by the Court House Company. Members of the group are Miss Elaine Stookey, Miss Anita Pruitt, Jeff Sheridan, Gary Browning and Mrs. Paula Campbell. They presented several selections of songs from the 1930's and concluded with a medley of songs from "The Wizard of Oz."

Diane Combs and Cathleen Fenton were guests. Girls-of-the-Month were seniors from Miami Trace High School—Cindy Baird and Susan Pero.

Girl Scout Unit has meeting

Present were Mrs. Vi Bulger of Chillicothe, Field Representative of the Seal of Ohio GS Council, Mrs. Charles Cunningham, Fayette County representative, Felix Stevens, public relations, and the following leaders from the following troops: Mrs. Betty Stevens and Mrs. Mary Lou Everhart, Brownie Troop 877; Miss Sandy Dale, Brownie Troop 1425; Mrs. Linda Hines, Brownie Troop 1056; Mrs. Diane Sohn

Xi Iota Theta honors three

An impressive candlelight ritual was held Tuesday night in the Staunton United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall for Dee Pruitt, Zella Pemberton and Georgette, Kelly, by Xi Iota Theta chapter members.

The service committee reported that a Christmas party for the members' children will be held this year, and the chapter will also support a worthy family for Christmas this year.

The social committee reported that the social for Saturday evening will include dinner at the Terrace Lounge with the husbands as guests. Bunko will then be played in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pitzer.

Agency maintains 363,717 acres

ODNR state's largest property owner

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Each year thousands of Ohioans utilize state-owned lands. Whether they hunt or fish on public wildlife areas, hike through a state forest or camp at a state park, few Ohioans realize the agency that administers these public areas is the state's largest property owner.

"The Ohio Department of Natural Resources is responsible for maintaining 363,717 acres across the state," said department director Robert W. Teater, who pointed out this is only 1.38 per cent of the total number of acres in Ohio.

Ohio ranks 38th in the nation for state-owned land set aside for recreation.

In comparing Ohio's five neighboring states, Michigan and Pennsylvania administer more state recreation land than Ohio with 4.5 and 3.5 million acres respectively.

The other three bordering states and their total state-administered recreation land are West Virginia, 277,972 acres; Indiana, 277,000 acres; and Kentucky, 156,000 acres.

Ohio's state recreation lands consist of state forests, state parks, wildlife areas and nature preserves. The total cost and acreage of these areas are outlined in the "1976 Land Inventory," published by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources Office of Real Estate.

According to the land inventory, Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Forestry manages the largest share of land owned by the department, consisting of 170,624 acres.

State forest lands include 18 state forests and two strip mine reclamation areas. The state forests are managed on a multiple-use basis to provide timber, wildlife habitat and a variety of recreational uses. Programs also provide management assistance for private landowners, forest fire protection, insect control and environmental education.

The 109,784 acres administered by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Parks and Recreation include 64 state parks designed to meet a large part of the public's recreational needs in Ohio. Delaware and Alum Creek state parks, and portions of Deer Creek, Dillon, Mosquito Creek, West Branch, Buck Creek, Caesar Creek, East Fork and Paint Creek are leased by the Ohio Department of Natural Resources from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The park system contains more than 8,600 campsites, 486 vacation cabins, six vacation lodges, four golf courses and a variety of recreation facilities. Forty-six of the state parks have one or more lakes for a total of 60,992 water acres. The parks with lakes provide nine miles of beaches for swimming and docks for more than 6,000 boats.

The 79,066 acres administered by the Wildlife Division are primarily supported by revenue generated from the sale of hunting and fishing licenses.

The Wildlife Division is responsible for conserving the state's fish and wildlife through management practices and the enforcement of protective laws. The division also maintains a fish management program on Lake Erie and hundreds of lakes, ponds and streams within Ohio.

In addition to the land owned by the Wildlife Division, hunters in Ohio enjoy the use of more than 10 million acres of private land and one-half million acres of public land, which includes ODNR's park and forest lands, Wayne National Forest and land made available for public use by private corporations.

The Natural Areas and Preserves Division maintains 4,242 acres of scenic rivers and land areas. The division owns scenic area sites along the Sandusky River in Wyandot, Seneca and Sandusky counties and the Little Miami River in River in Greene, Warren and Hamilton counties. It is also responsible for administering the state's system of natural areas.

With the rising cost of living, an increasing number of budget-minded Ohioans are traveling closer to home each year by vacationing at state recreation areas.

This increased use of Ohio's recreation facilities has created a growing need for continued land acquisition and development for nature preserves, state parks and forests, fishing access sites to Ohio's streams and rivers, and protection of wildlife and vegetation.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources has acquired nearly 16.6 thousand acres of land within the past five years, and plans to purchase this same amount of land over the next three years, if funds are available, Teater said.

PTO carnival nets $1,500

BLOOMINGBURG — The Bloomingburg Elementary School PTO carnival netted $1,500 last Saturday, organization members learned at a recent meeting.

In another fund-raising effort, Jeff Parker, junior high school physical education teacher, announced that "Bloomingburg Bulldog" tee-shirts will go on sale. The proceeds from the sale will be used to buy additional equipment for the physical education program.

Mrs. Donald Hutchens, a second-grade teacher, was at the meeting to thank the organization for the new carpet in her classroom while Parker expressed his thanks for the recently purchased volleyball standards.

The PTO voted to buy needed art supplies for the junior high school. The science department was also allocated funds for supplies and new clocks are to be purchased for the school building.

It was also announced that each teacher will receive a cash allotment to purchase various items for the individual classrooms.

A meeting of the Bloomingburg room mothers was slated for Tuesday in the school cafeteria and the next PTO meeting will be held Dec. 15 at 7:30 p.m. following the school's Christmas program.

3 Ohio GM plants struck

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three of the 16 General Motors Corp. plants targeted by the United Auto Workers for strikes at Thursday midnight were in Ohio. The UAW and another company reached a tentative agreement that affects workers in a fourth Ohio location.

The UAW, in an unprecedented action, launched a selective "mini-strike" against the 16 key GM plants at 12:01 a.m. EST Friday. The action came after bargainers failed to reach accord on a new national contract for 390,000 workers.

The singled out GM facilities are the Fisher Body plants at Cleveland, Hamilton and Mansfield. The UAW's contract expired at midnight, and the union opted for selected shutdowns instead of going nationwide.

'Hee Haw' continues run of constant popularity

By JOE EDWARDS
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The cornfield stage set is still in place. And so are the jokes grown there.

"Hee Haw," country music's version of "The Lawrence Welk Show," continues to be one of the most successful syndicated TV shows on the air.

The show, in its eighth season, has an estimated audience of 33 million person, up 1 million from a year ago.

It is on 227 stations and shown in every major American television market except Boston. There's a waiting list for advertisers.

Cast members and show officials cite some basic reasons for the success: appeal to the family, simple humor and the popularity of country music.

"Hee Haw," like the Welk show, got its start on network television, but unlike the Welk show, its network life was short. But the show has proved, as did Welk, that the networks don't have all the answers for gauging show popularity. Welk says he's got more stations in syndication than he did on the network.

"The shortest distance between two points is a straight line, and that's the way we've been on this show," host Buck Owens said during in break in taping at the WTVF studio in downtown Nashville.

"We've been straight — not too clever," he said. "The most important thing is the meld of music, comedy and different kinds of comedy. We took oil and water and mixed it and it stayed mixed."

"We are bein' and actin' like what people thought we were, instead of trying to be sophisticated and actin' like we weren't. We went the other way, like the Beverly Hillbillies. We depict ourselves. I don't say or do anything I normally wouldn't do. I can say 'ain'."

Sam Lovullo, the show's short, balding producer, agrees:

"We leave people as they are," said Lovullo, who would pass for Curly of the Three Stooges. "You almost see yourself at home as being that way."

"It's family oriented. We reach all classes, all ages and both men and women."

"Also, the country music plays a big part. Country music is story telling about things like love and divorce — things people identify with."

Those connected with the show predict continued success.

"We'll be on a long time," said Lovullo. "Hee Haw" is the Grand Ole Opry of TV."

Owens says: "I wouldn't be surprised to see it go 15 years in production and another 15 years in reruns. It would be easy to alter the shows by using bits and pieces from one show and parts of another."

"Ten years from now, there still will be a lot of 'Hee Haw' new or old. It'll be like 'I Love Lucy.'"

Informality reigns on the set. There are no wardrobes or makeup rooms or stuffy executives barking orders.

"People just sit around and watch and laugh," Lovullo said.

Spider Man helps planned parenthood

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The diabolical alien, The Prodigy, is seconds away from his nationwide telecast that will draw millions of innocent teen-agers into his seamy plot for a population explosion on earth.

"When I'm in front of that television tonight, I'll hit the beardless, mindless crowd with everything I've got," snarls the sinister visitor from outer space.

The plan is to tell adolescents that pregnancy is good for them, that it will balance their hormones and control acne.

"What jive stuff this turkey hands out!" muses that perennial good guy, Spider Man. In the nick of time he breaks into the studio, rips off the Prodigy's human mask and foils the plot with super spider webs.

"Never again will you mesmerize kids with your destructive propaganda," a triumphant Spider Man chides the demon.

This comic book scene of good versus evil is Planned Parenthood's newest approach to the teen-age pregnancy problem — the plight of an estimated one million American teen-agers a year, according to Dr. Hugh Anwyll, executive director of the organization's office here.

The 25-cent comic book by Marvel Comics is distributed by Planned Parenthood clinics nationwide. It deals with pregnancy and contraception, homosexuality, masturbation and venereal disease.

It skirts morality entirely, focusing mainly on the value of good sense and knowing the facts, Anwyll said.

"There's a lot of material the bad guy can propagate," he said. "What we are trying to show kids through Spider Man is that you don't have to be trapped."

"It's a far cry from anything moralistic. I think it points to one significant thing — that there is an option, that you have a choice. It's not pushing anything or saying it's wrong to be pregnant."

Spider Man, you may recall, is the alter ego of a high school student who was bitten by a radioactive spider in Indiana vaccine to be short

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Children's swine flu vaccine is to be delivered to the states next week, but Indiana health officials say supplies will be short and they are awaiting distribution guidelines.

The available vaccine will take care of less than 10 per cent of an estimated 960,000 eligible Hoosier, children between the ages of 3 and 17.

1962. The bite supercharged him, turning him into a humble, rather reluctant crusader for good and justice.

Planned Parenthood recognized his appeal to children and teens.

"The kids like it and that's about as much as we can expect," said Johanna Pugni of Planned Parenthood in New York, who developed the campaign.

Dr. Charles Barrett, coordinator of the swine flu inoculation program in Indiana, said Indiana can expect to receive enough to immunize about 85,000 high risk children.

The vaccine in question is for those children who do not suffer from chronic illness and are not considered to be in highrisk groups. High-risk children already are receiving the vaccine.

JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — A recent advertisement shows the faces of Harry Reasoner and Barbara Walters, co-anchors of the ABC Evening News. The ad says: "On the network more people are watching."

But don't get the impression more people are watching the Harry and Barbara show than the CBS Evening News or the NBC Nightly News. They aren't.

The new ABC effort, launched Oct. 4 after constant publicity about Miss Walters and her $1 million-a-year salary, still is third in the ratings, even though ABC says it detects a definite ratings improvement.

Over a six-week period — the latest Nielsens available are for the week ending Nov. 12 — the Reasoner-Walters show has been seen in just over 7.5 million homes each weeknight, on the average.

In contrast, the Nielsen figures say the six-week average for CBS' news show is more than 10.8 million homes each weeknight, with a nightly average of nearly 9.9 million homes watching NBC's news.

Still, says William Lord, an ABC News vice president, the Reasoner-Walters show is getting, on the average, nearly a full ratings point more than in the days without her. A Nielsen spokesman agreed.

IUD deaths worrisome

BOSTON (AP) — The risk of dying from an infected spontaneous abortion is 50 times higher among women who wear intrauterine devices — IUDs — while pregnant, a federal study says.

The researchers say the figures dramatize the importance of women having their IUDs removed at the first sign of pregnancy.

IUDs are plastic birth control devices implanted in the uterus to prevent pregnancy. About 2 per cent of the time, however, they fail, and women become pregnant anyway.

The new study says that unless these women have their IUDs removed at once, they run a greatly increased risk of dying from infected, or septic, abortions that occur spontaneously, unlike those induced by doctors.

The research was conducted by the federal Center for Disease Control in Atlanta. It was published today in the New England Journal of Medicine.

The doctors reached their conclusions after surveying the 50 deaths related to spontaneous abortions that occurred in the United States between 1972 and 1974. During that time, they estimated that 115,000 pregnant women were wearing IUDs and 11.9 million were not.

Three minor traffic mishaps investigated

Three traffic accidents in which damage to the vehicles involved was no more than moderate, were investigated Thursday by Washington C.H. police officers.

Charles T. Nebbergall, 30, of 912 1/2 Willard St., was charged with backing without safety after he backed his truck along North Street and it struck a car stopped for traffic behind it.

Nebbergall had been stopped at the Court Street intersection, and had backed up to let a semi tractor trailer rig turn onto North Street. Nebbergall's truck struck and slightly damaged a car driven by Donald L. Blair, 47, of 1200 Dayton Ave., police officers said. The mishap occurred at 6:18 p.m. Thursday.

Traveling west in an alley approaching the 300 block of Grace Street, a car driven by Doris J. Stritenberger, 28, of 3950 Prairie Road, reportedly collided with a car driven by Terry A. Beedy, 23, of 236 Kennedy Ave., which was proceeding north on Grace Street at 5:30 p.m. Thursday. Damage was slight to both vehicles.

Northbound on Brown Street and stopped at the Lewis Street intersection, a car driven by Daniel Pearce, 17, of 2169 Dorthia Drive, was struck in the rear by an approaching car that was unable to stop in time.

The second car was driven by Wendy Coil, 16, of 3895 Washington-Waterloo Road, and both vehicles sustained moderate damage as a result of the 7:58 a.m. Thursday accident.

Miss Coil was charged with failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Judging scheduled Monday

Six area finalists seeking Miss Snow Princess title

Six finalists have been selected in the Miss Snow Princess division to reign over the 1976 Christmas parade.

George Malek, executive vice president of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, said each entry included a written essay on "Why Fayette County Has a Christmas Parade." Although photographs accompanied each entry, the judges felt that the content of each essay should be used as the criteria for selecting finalists.

The finalists were selected on the basis of their ideas about what the Christmas parade offers the community and the manner in which they expressed these ideas.

All finalists in the Snow Queen, Miss Snow Princess and Little Miss Snow Princess divisions will appear in person before the judges at 7 p.m. Monday in the Washington C.H. Middle School cafeteria. There they will be asked to respond to a question posed by the judges. Mrs. John Marcum is the program chairman.

Serving as judges are Robert Harper of the First National Bank in Washington C.H., David Loudner of the Terrace Lounge and Joe Downs of the Pizza Hut restaurant.

The queen and two princesses will receive gifts from area merchants and ride the "Parade Royalty" float in the Dec. 4 Christmas parade.

The Miss Snow Princess finalists are:

Diana Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hughes, 10082 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road. She is an eighth grade student at New Holland Elementary School.

Crystal Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis, 7 Brookside Court. She is a sixth grader at the Washington C.H. Middle School.

Laurie Merritt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Merritt, 5145 U.S. 62-S. She is a seventh grader at Eber Junior High School.

Kelly Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reeves, 7388 Camp Grove Road. She is an eighth grade student at Wayne Elementary School in Good Hope.

Lori Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson, 3103 U.S. 62-N. She is a seventh grade student at Bloomingburg Elementary School; and Sheila Terry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Terry, 3517 Culpepper Trace Road. She is a seventh grade student at Eber Junior High School.

Man fights blindness

STREETSBORO, Ohio (AP) — Streetsboro councilman Roger Prof has been losing his sight since the summer of 1973, but while darkness gathers around him, the light of hope grows within.

Prof, 40, has not let the coming of blindness prevent him from doing his job nor has he let it cause him to give up his faith.

"I miss looking at flowers and watching ants parade to an ant hill. I'd like to have my eyes back," he says. "I still have great hope in doctors and in God."

The councilman is a retired Ford Motor Co. employee who now spends a good part of his day on civic affairs. He relies heavily on the telephone to contact constituents. He says the telephone company doesn't charge him for getting phone numbers through information. At home, his family reads to him.

He is seldom absent from council meetings or city functions. "At first my blindness depressed me. But in the past, I've seen others with greater problems than I have. I can still do a lot I didn't think I would be able to. And I can still walk without a cane."

Prof, who has had diabetes since he was 17, receives laser treatments for hemorrhaging behind his retina. He has general vision and that's all.

Eight sets of twins attend classes

Look-alikes abound at WSHS

By CHRIS McKINNEY

In the year 1965 a group of students entered each of the different elementary schools in Washington C.H. Since then, there has been much talk about the number of twins Washington City Schools have had.

This year, there are eight sets of twins, and one of the sets are now attending the joint vocational school. The unusual thing about all of the twins are that five of the eight sets are all members of the graduating class of 1977.

The freshmen class added our eighth duet of look-alikes this year when Bill and Bob Runnels moved up to the Senior High School with the class of 1979.

Nancy and Brad Penwell are another pair of twins, but not many people seem to know this because Brad is a member of the freshmen class while Nancy is a sophomore.

Of course it is hard to tell most twins apart, but Thelma and Velma Ratcliff take the cake. It is nearly impossible to tell them apart. The girls are juniors and attend Laurel Oaks Joint Vocational School.

Next comes the senior class. To answer the doubtful question, Yes, Brenda and Linda Morrison are twins, and Linda is the oldest. Sue and Tammy Pope are another set that are unidentical as twins, Tammy is the oldest in this pair.

Another of the sets that are hard to tell apart are Lu and Jo Brown. The Browns are led by Lu. Cathy Penwell Alshire and Cindy Penwell are the class of 77's fourth set. Cathy holds her head up when she says she is the oldest. Last are Beth and Jill Schaeper, in that order. They are smiling blondes.

There you have it, everyone has talked and been amazed at the number of twins Washington C.H. has had, now you have met them all and can leave the "un" off of "believable".

Prayer breakfast draws students

By JANE HENRY

Have you ever wondered what goes on at South Side Church of Christ on Tuesday mornings at 6:45?

Many of the teachers and students of Washington Senior High School, and Miami Trace High School attend the weekly prayer breakfast. The Prayer breakfast gives the teachers and students a chance to have a quiet time with God before the days activities begin.

When students and teachers arrive at South Side, they quietly go into the sanctuary. There they can have a quiet meditation time with the Rev. Charles Richmond, beginning the day with a few good thoughts.

Dismissal time arrives and everyone floods into Fellowship Hall. Songs are sung, and are accompanied on the piano by students who have volunteered the previous week. After that, someone offers thanks for the food and a delicious breakfast is served.

Preparation and serving is done by volunteer ladies who are within the church. The food is very appreciated, as it comes from gifts and donations, which are given by private persons and organizations.

Just as everyone is about to finish

eating, Reverend Richmond takes the count of how many freshman, sophomores, juniors, and seniors are present. Teachers are also counted.

After all of this takes place, and things get quieted down, one of the students or teachers give a small, five-minute inspirational talk. After this there is a dismissal prayer. Everyone then leaves to go to school.

The prayer breakfast has grown since the last school year. There are no problems in people volunteering to lead the singing or give devotions. Students and teachers from all denominations are represented.

FTA members try teaching

WSHS students serve as aides

By KAY LANGEN

Future Teachers of America is one of the career clubs offered at the Washington Senior High School.

The club gives the members experience in being a teacher's aide at the Eastside School or at the Senior High School during study halls. Being an aide permits a person to learn the pros and cons of being a teacher without any formal and expensive training. The experience will help the person decide whether or not he would like to continue in this field of study.

East side started helping FTA about four years ago. While at Eastside, the student aide may either be placed in the class as a "teacher", or may be given a tutoring job to help a child along in his lessons.

In February, FTA sponsors a "George Washington Tea" for the teachers at Eastside. The FTA also makes gifts for Orient at Christmas and at the end of the school year. They give a $50 scholarship to a graduate going into the field of education. To earn money for their activities, FTA holds different projects such as bake sales as well as various money-making projects.

This year FTA elected Bret Wilson as their president. Other officers are: Beth Harris, vice-president; Bryan Buck, secretary; and Tammy Pope, treasurer. The advisor for the club this year, and for the past three years, is Mrs. Doris Lutz.

Future Teachers of America is a very worthwhile club for anyone to join. We would like to thank Mrs. Lutz, Eastside School, and the Senior High School for their interest in helping the future careers dealing in education.

LEARNING THE TRADE — Linda Morrison helps an Eastside Elementary student with his studies as part of the WSHS Future Teachers of America Club program.

Lion of week full of spirit

By DEBBIE HIGHFIELD

The Lion of the Week is Sue Stapleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Stapleton of 215 E. Paint St.

Sue is a spirited leader at WSHS. She took the reins of a pep club and got it off the ground. She felt the necessity of such a club, so she formed it with over 25 members.

Sue makes badges and signs for each game. Her spirit is turned all the way up 24 hours a day.

As a cheerleader, Sue got the crowd excited. Now, as a spirited leader, she accomplishes the same purpose.

Spirit and excitement are in Sue's blood. At the game, you'll recognize her as the red-cheeked, banner-carrying screamer. You just have to yell along with her.

Spirit and enthusiasm are very important to a team. If the players know they've got support from their fans, they are going to play 100 per cent better.

WSHS feels proud to have Sue in there backing the Lions all the way. If only, everyone could have just a portion of her enthusiasm and determination.

Thanks Sue! What would we do without you?

Moynihan to be maverick in U.S. Senate

By PETER SLOCUM
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — New York's new U.S. senator grew up a poor Irish boy in the real-life setting for the musical "West Side Story."

But Daniel Patrick Moynihan, won his Senate seat on Manhattan's East Side, where his dramatic performances at the United Nations drew rave notices and gave Democrat Moynihan a head start with the state's important Jewish voters.

The sometimes-bureaucrat made two big speeches on behalf of Israel during his time as U.S. permanent representative to the United Nations, and his reputation was made.

Ohio Perspective

See no changes for state GOP

By TOM DIEMER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess doesn't plan any major change in direction for his depleted Republican caucus.

Kurfess, who saw the Republican base in the House slip from 40 to 37 in the election, faced a small but vocal band of dissidents at an organizational caucus.

Although a planned challenge to his leadership fizzled, there were calls for a change in approach by the minority bloc, which no longer has enough votes to sustain GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes' vetoes.

Kurfess, a Bowling Green lawyer, is not adverse to new strategies or policies, but contends "the role of the minority in the House is a continuously changing one."

"The different things we'll do, will depend on the particular situation."

Kurfess, a former speaker of the House who is completing his 20th year in the legislature, noted that election losers often react by saying "the people have spoken."

"Sometimes," Kurfess said, "I wish we hadn't asked them."

Democratic victories in Ohio congressional races have not stilled talk of another effort in the state legislature to redistrict boundary lines to benefit Democratic candidates.

State Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, captured the 13th Congressional District seat in north central Ohio, left vacant by the retirement of GOP Rep. Charles Mosher. And Cincinnati attorney Thomas Luken ousted incumbent Rep. Donald D. Clancy, a Republican in the 2nd district.

That chipped the Republican edge from 15-8 to 13-10 in the Ohio congressional delegation.

But Democrats were bitterly disappointed by the narrow loss of Columbus city councilwoman Fran Ryan to Rep. Sam Devine, R-12. And former state legislator John McDonald got swamped by conservative Rep. John M. Ashbrook, R-17, despite an ambitious campaign.

A redistricting effort would of course fuel partisan fires, but the veto-proof Democratic legislature could surmount a veto by Rhodes. There would probably be a degree of discontent however, even in Democratic ranks, since Democratic strength in some districts would be eroded somewhat to shore up other areas.

The districts in Cincinnati and Columbus could well become doughnut shaped in each city—an outlying suburban district that would be conceded to a Republican and a central city district for a Democrat, like Fran Ryan or Tom Luken.

Two northwest Ohio state senators have introduced a resolution recognizing this week as "National Liederkrantz Week."

In a joint statement, Sens. M. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, and Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, said: "The world's supply of this gastronomic treat is produced in Van Wert under the watchful eyes and expert control of Van Wert's master cheese makers. At full ripeness, Liederkrantz has delighted the world's palate and brought fame to this community."

Mutual fund group declares dividend

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A quarterly dividend of nine cents per share has been approved by Mutual Investing Foundation trustees for the MIF Fund, one cent more than was paid during each of the three previous quarters.

Trustees also approved a semiannual dividend for MIF Growth Fund of four cents a share, one cent more than each paid in the previous half year.

The trustees also approved a capital gains distribution for MIF Fund of 20 cents per share.

The dividends and capital gains distribution are payable Nov. 23 to shareholders of record Nov. 22.

Roman Catholics were relatively few in pioneer days in Ohio, the first edifice of that denomination in the state being dedicated in Perry County in December, 1818. Although as late as 1819 there had been only 100 Catholics in Cincinnati, with no resident priest, seven years later the frame church erected in 1823 had become inadequate and four priests and a bishop were in residence.—AP foe, incumbent Republican-Conservative Sen. James L. Buckley, were more tweaks than damnations.

"Professorial" is a word many observers enjoy pinning on Moynihan. Buckley called him "Professor Moynihan" throughout the campaign, and while Moynihan put on great displays of anger, he seemed to relish the label.

In fact Moynihan's whole campaign image was a marriage of Irish street and Ivy League intellect.

"Say something in Irish and I'll introduce you," one speaker told him from the stage during the campaign.

"I'll have a beer," Moynihan responded.

Moynihan, who favors plaid Irish walking hats, will have some colorful competition in the Senate from a fellow academic who's fond of tam-o'-shanters. It will come from Sen. S. I. Hayakawa, a semantics professor who, like Moynihan, defeated an incumbent to become a California senator. Hayakawa, who gained his fame as a college president for a confrontation with student demonstrators in the 60s, is a Republican.

At 49, Moynihan has behind him a career of bouncing back and forth between government and campus, between Republican and Democratic powerholders. Hayakawa, who says he and Moynihan are liberal intellectuals who have seen the light, only recently switched from the Democratic to the Republican party.

Moynihan started out working for New York's Democratic governor of the 1950s, W. Averell Harriman. When Harriman lost his bid for re-election in 1958, he gave his official papers to Syracuse University and Moynihan went there to teach.

Moynihan got involved early in John F. Kennedy's campaign and went to Washington when Kennedy won the 1960 election.

There, in the forefront of the New Frontier, and later President Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society, Moynihan was a highly ranked architect of expanding social programs.

Later, after his first stint at Harvard, he grew more doubtful about the federal government's ability to bring about creative change, and he signed on as President Richard M. Nixon's domestic affairs adviser.

In that post Moynihan counseled that the black "problem" could benefit from a period of "benign neglect." That advice, in addition to some of his academic work, has rendered him eternally suspect to many black leaders.

During the same time Moynihan promoted a welfare reform plan, based primarily on the notion that the current system works to divide families and that a system which offered more cash and fewer programs for broken families would probably help people more. It would cost more in the short run but less in the long run, he argued. Congress refused to go along, but Moynihan did push to get the outline of his plan into the Democratic party platform this year.

On foreign policy matters, Moynihan pronounces himself deeply suspicious of the Russians and other Communists, and sounds like a 1950s Cold Warrior at times. He supported Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington during the presidential primaries.

Moynihan says he is helping to lead a

Democratic party return to moderation after what he views as the excesses of George McGovern and radical chic.

In New York State, Moynihan has tremendous name recognition, almost celebrity appeal, but no firm political base of his own. He won both the primary campaign and the general election as the designated candidate of the state's most powerful county chairman, Joseph Crangle of Buffalo.

Schlichter, Zechman take top honors

Miami Trace places 12 in district

By GEORGE STRODE
AP Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami Trace Coach Fred Zechman, his star quarterback Art Schlichter and linebacker Art Schlichter and Lancaster offensive tackle Jim Turner have won The Associated Press' top Ohio Southeastern District Class AAA high school football honors.

Zechman was named the area's AAA Coach of the Year for turning out a 10-0 season, the state's fourth ranking and a third straight South-Central Ohio League title.

Schlichter, only a junior, rushed and passed for 2,203 yards to win Southeastern Ohio Back of the Year honors. The 6-foot-3, 190-pounder hit 92 of 141 passes for 1,665 yards and ran for the rest, figuring in 194 points.

Turner, a 6-4, 255-pound senior, was named the area's AAA Lineman of the Year. Turner has been first team all-district for two straight seasons and was a third team All-Ohioan last fall.

In Class AA, Jim Rockwell of state champion New Lexington was the No. 1 coach, Kevin Cannon of New Lexington the top back and Rick Howard of Ironton, a defensive end, the leading lineman.

In Class A, Morris Gullion of Piketon won the coaching honor, Tim Williams of Oak Hill the back crown and Piketon tackle Terry Gifford the lineman laurels.

Rockwell, in coaching 26 seasons, led the Panthers to a 10-0 record, his 17th consecutive winning campaign, and a spot in the state semifinals. Under Rockwell, New Lexington is 38-2 in the last four years.

Cannon, a 6-foot, 185-pound tailback, piled up 1,200 yards rushing for the Panthers. Howard, a repeat first team all-district selection, performed as a fullback and defensive end in leading Ironton to a 9-1 season.

Gullion produced a 9-1 record at Piketon and won the Scioto Valley Conference title for the second straight season. Williams, a 6-2, 170-pound senior, swept to 2,090 yards in 306 rushes, scoring 172 points. Gifford's blocking was one of the reasons Piketon was once beaten.

The Associated Press' 1976 Ohio Southeastern Ohio District high school football all-stars, selected by an area panel of sports writers and broad-casters:

High school playoffs set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Don Bucci knows the experience of coaching an Ohio high school playoff championship football team, but he's making no predictions about a 1976 title for his Youngstown Mooney football team.

The awesome reason: Cincinnati Moeller, his Class AAA semifinal opponent in Dayton's Welcome Stadium tonight.

"They are what a coach dreams of," Bucci said of the 10-0-0 Crusaders, the defending playoff champions. "They have great running and their passing is superstrong. On defense, they fire people all over."

"They are the best team I've ever seen in the playoffs. We will have to play super defense and control the football against them."

Bucci's squad whipped Moeller 34-7 three years ago on the way to its lone playoff title.

"We don't have the great running back like we did in Ted Bell in 1973," Bucci compared his two teams. "We really have no superstars this time, not a whole lot of major college prospects. But they just keep getting better."

Bucci concedes it gives him a psychological play to be ranked No. 2 behind Moeller going into the showdown. "Naturally, our kids think they're the best. It's a slap in the face to be ranked second," he said. Both are 10-0-0.

In the other Class AAA semifinal tonight, No. 3 Gahanna, 9-0-0, plays eighth-ranked Lakewood St. Edward, 9-1-0, the 1975 playoff title victim of Moeller, in the Akron Rubber Bowl.

In Class A semifinals tonight, third-ranked Newark Catholic, 9-1-0, makes its fourth straight appearance against No. 5 West Jefferson, 8-1-0, at Upper Arlington High School and No. 8 Fostoria St. Wendelin, 7-1-1, tangles with No. 10 Ashtabula St. John's, 5-3-1, at Lorain's Daniel Field.

The Class AA semifinals wait until Saturday night with second-ranked Huron, 10-0-0, against ninth-rated Elyria Catholic, 8-1-0, at Baldwin-Wallace College while No. 1 New Lexington, 10-0-0, faces No. 3 Brookville, 10-0-0, in Welcome Stadium.

The championship schedule in the Rubber Bowl next weekend has the AAA finale at 7:30 p.m. Friday night, Nov. 26, the A winup at 4:30 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 27, followed three hours later by the AA showdown.

Cullinan winner of Latonia feature

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Cullinan N rushed out of third at the three quarter pole, darted to the outside and outlasted Edgewood Merlin to win the featured pace at Latonia Thursday night.

The half-length victory over the mile course paid $11.00, $4.60 and $3.40. Edgewood Merlin paid $6.40 and $3.20. The show horse was Star Tassle at $3.20.

The daily double paid $31.20 on the 3-1 combination of Princess Peggy and GS Dream.

A crowd of 1117 wagered $112,882.

Chiefs host Bengals

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs will have the home field advantage when they host the Cincinnati Bengals Sunday. And that's not saying much.

The Chiefs are winless in five previous regular season outings at home this year, and the odds are against them improving on their 3-7 National Football League record.

SCOL cage preview slated Tuesday

The South Central Ohio League will open its cage season this Tuesday, November 23, with the third annual SCOL preview.

The seven SCOL member schools plus one outsider will take the court at Washington C.H. for two eight-minute quarters.

The first match pits Glen Este against Greenfield McClain at 6:45 p.m. The order for the remainder of the games is Wilmington and Circleville at 7:30, Miami Trace and Madison Plains at 8:15, and Washington C.H. and Hillsboro at 9:00.

The tickets, according to Blue Lion athletic director Jon Creamer, are $1 for both students and adults presale. The tickets, which let the holder see all four games, will be $1.50 at the door.

These games are strictly exhibition and have no outcome on the regular season.

Miami Trace begins its regular season on the road as they travel to Lancaster for their first game on November 27. The Lions begin their season at home versus Madison Plains.

McKeon new A's manager

OAKLAND (AP) — For the 14th time since purchasing the A's franchise in 1961, Charles O. Finley has changed managers, and Jack McKeon says he is "really very thrilled" to have been chosen.

McKeon, former manager of the Kansas City Royals who piloted Atlanta's Richmond farm club in the International League last season, was given a one-year contract to lead talent-depleted Oakland.

"It's gonna take a little patience," McKeon said Thursday in a telephone interview after returning to his home in Burlington, N.C. "We'll probably have to force-feed a few young prospects into the lineup."

"But you know Charlie. He'll find some way of getting some pretty good ballplayers. He's done it in the past, and he will do it again."

The A's have lost several star players who helped them win three straight World Series from 1972-4, most of them during the season just ended when they played out their options.

McKeon, who will be 46 Tuesday, said he was invited to Chicago where Finley offered him the job at a luncheon Thursday. Later in the day, Finley released the news from the A's office here.

McKeon managed in the minors for 18 years before going to Kansas City in 1973 when the Royals finished second to the A's in the American League West. Kansas City slid to fifth in 1974, and McKeon was fired in July, 1975. At the end of the 1975 season, he scouted the Boston Red Sox in the playoffs for Finley.

Gullett signs with Yanks;
$2 million, six years

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Reds Manager Sparky Anderson closed the book on Don Gullett Thursday, with anguish and disillusionment.

"The name will be dropped. I will never bring his name up again," said Anderson.

"Cincinnati is going to carry on," said Anderson, admitting he was "a little shocked" after learning that the Reds' ace lefthander had jumped to the New York Yankees for a six-year contract worth an estimated $2 million.

The loss clearly cut Anderson deeply. Despite indications that Gullett and his attorney Jerry Kapstein were cool to last-minute overtures from the Reds front office, Anderson was optimistic to the end that the differences might be settled.

"I've always been very strong on loyalty and I always felt there is a lot more to life than money," said Anderson.

Gullett, 25, was nearing greatness after six years with the Reds, who made him their No. 1 draft choice in 1969. He joins the team the Reds humiliated during a four-game sweep last month that produced a second straight World Series title.

Reds outfielder Ken Griffey said the loss doesn't dash the Reds' chances for a third world championship in a row. Nor does he consider Gullett a traitor.

"I don't have any hard feelings," said Griffey. "In fact I'm happy for him. There's nothing wrong with a guy getting security. But I think we can win it without him."

Griffey doesn't feel the addition of Gullett swings the pendulum in the Yankees favor as baseball's next super team. "As far as I'm concerned, the best team did not win the American League last year. They might be buying the best talent, but they still have to put it all together on the field. Nobody can say we bought two straight world champions."

Rookie righthander Pat Zachry, who stepped into the breach and won 14 games when Gullett spent most of the season disabled, said the development "puts a damper" on Cincinnati's depth-tinching staff. "We just got by without him."

Zachry said the lucrative package emphasizes the fact that baseball "is a business and we are valuable commodities."

Anderson, speaking from a phone booth at Los Angeles International Airport, said he holds no animosity toward the 25-year-old lefthander. Gullett was the only member of the world champions to play out his option.

"The only thing that I hope is someday Gullett will be able to look back and say he made the right decision."

Anderson said he is confident the Reds' front office "will look over everything and come up with something. Some way, we'll replace him."

He said the Cincinnati farm system lacks a top lefthander with the seasoning to immediately fill the void left by Gullett.

The loss of Gullett likely means the Reds will swing an off-season trade to replace the fireballing lefthander.

With Miami Trace heading the list, Fayette County placed 16 first team selections of the 1976 All-South Central Ohio League football team.

The Panthers, who crushed all comers this season, landed 13 players on the team while Washington C.H. claimed the other three.

Wilmington grabbed six positions on the all-league team. Circleville placed four players on the team while Greenfield McClain had two. Hillsboro and Madison Plains each had one player named.

Miami Trace also claimed the honorary offensive and defensive captains on the team. Center Sam Grooms was selected the captain of the offensive unit while Rex Coe, a cornerback, won the selection as honorary captain of the defense.

Four players were named to the first team on both offense and defense. Circleville's Harl Stevenson was selected as an offensive guard and a defensive down lineman. The Tigers also had Brian Price, named an offensive tackle and a defensive linebacker. Coe, in addition to being named cornerback, was selected as a running back. Wilmington's Gary Williams was named a defensive deep back and the kicking specialist.

In the offensive backfield are two runners who crossed the 1000-yard barrier and one other who came close. Coe and Wilmington's Bruce McKee each ran for more than 1000 yards. Dan Gifford of Miami Trace ran for 890 yards this season.

The offense is led by quarterback Art Schlichter. The junior signal-caller accounted for over 2000 yards total offense this season and was named the Ohio southeastern district back of the year.

There were a total of 20 seniors on the SCOL's top team. Seven juniors made the squad and Trace's Glen Cobb was the lone sophomore picked.

Greenfield McClain landed seven players on the second team. Circleville had five players on the second team, Washington C.H. had four, Wilmington had three, and Miami Trace and Madison Plains each had one. Hillsboro did not receive any second team placements.

The team members were honored last night at the All SCOL banquet. Also honored were the members of the all-league golf team and the all-league girls volleyball team.

Baldwin-Wallace faces Wittenberg Saturday

BEREA, Ohio (AP) — The grounding of Baldwin-Wallace's high-flying offense is the chief task facing Wittenberg Saturday when the two teams square off in the Ohio Athletic Conference Championship game.

"Their offense is very sophisticated," said Wittenberg Coach Dave Maurer, whose team dropped a 19-0 decision to Baldwin-Wallace here last month. "They run exceptionally well and have a great passing threat — they keep your defense off balance."

Garland may sign

Garland, 26, only 2-5 in 1975, was among the most effective pitchers in the American League last season, posting a 20-7 mark with a 2.67 ERA.

Bengals, Chiefs set collision at KC

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three years ago, Vince Costello worked at ways to shut down offenses facing the Cincinnati Bengals. This week he tries his luck at stopping his old team.

"There's no question that Vince is a great asset to them this week," said Cincinnati coach Bill Johnson Wednesday as the Bengals readied for Sunday's National Football League meeting with the air-minded Kansas City Chiefs.

Costello spent six years as the Bengals linebacker before moving on to the Miami Dolphins and Kansas City after helping Cincinnati to a 10-4 season in 1973.

Now he is the defensive coordinator of the 3-7 Chiefs, who are slowly trying to build a defense to match their high-powered offense.

"He knows our system, our audibles and our offensive structure. Being well acquainted with out personnel, he knows what they like to do."

"It's something we have to think about," said Johnson.

Costello, who succeeded Bill Arnsparger as Miami's defensive boss, was the first assistant appointed by Chiefs coach Paul Wiggin a year ago.

While the Bengals offense tries to shake off two straight mediocre first-half outings, the Cincinnati defense must corral the No. 1 passing team in the NFL.

"They have a potent passing attack," said Johnson. "They do a great job of cleverly disguising their pass patterns."

The Chiefs are averaging almost 230 yards passing per game but the defense is giving up 30 points per outing.

"We can expect to see a lot of deep patterns," said Johnson. Quarterback Mike Livingston has completed 57 per cent of his passes for nearly 2,100 yards. His chief targets are fullback McArthur Lane, who already has 43 receptions; and Walter White and Larry Brunson.

Spark's New Book Is In Good Form

THE TAKEOVER. By Muriel Spark. Viking. 266 Pages. $8.95.
The times and the mores are drenched in decadence in Muriel Spark's latest book, "The Takeover."

Mrs. Spark's own mystical blend of religion and the supernatural emerges this time as cult worship near modern day Rome, reminiscent of the competitive deity factions of the pre-Christian world.

One cult rises up to pay tribute to the legendary Roman goddess of fertility, Diana, while another cult of sorts fawns and feeds upon Maggie Radcliffe. Tullio-Friole, a jet-setting American high priestess of the beautiful life and its attendant wealth and power.

Hubert Mallindaine, who claims to be a descendant of Diana, sets up a new "religion" in her honor at Nemi, the grove where the Temple of Diana once stood. At the same time, Hubert mobilizes all of his guile to take over as much of Maggie's fortune as possible.

Maggie has something to tempt just about everyone — original art, priceless antiques and jewels for the stealing; houses, land and corporations for the swindling; and a lover and husband for the luring — and most of the characters get into the action.

And the action is there but it's subtle. It borders on the complex and the sophisticated in setting, characters and language. The excitement of wondering whether Maggie will be completely consumed in a frenzy of money and power-crazed madness lasts throughout "The Takeover."

Mrs. Spark's skillful interweaving of ancient mythology with the contemporary idol worship of the super-rich and the would-be rich makes for original and absorbing reading.

Gilmore, girl friend may get to talk

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Gary Gilmore may be allowed to talk with the girl friend who joined him in an abortive suicide pact while he waits in near-isolation for a board to decide whether he'll face a firing squad. The 35-year-old convicted murderer, who says he prefers death to prison, was cheered by fellow inmates Thursday as he returned under police escort to the Utah State Prison from a hospital. He was found unconscious in his cell on Tuesday from a sublethal overdose of sleeping pills.

His girl friend, Nicole Barrett, 20, emerged from a coma Thursday for the first time since she was hospitalized in Provo after taking sleeping pills in her apartment Tuesday. Hospital officials said she was recovering but would require treatment for several more days.

Gilmore, told of her improvement, said nothing but appeared relieved, a prison guard said.

He was placed in the prison's infirmary under what Warden Samuel Smith called "as close to solitary confinement as this prison has had in years." Asked whether Mrs. Barrett might be allowed to visit Gilmore, Smith said, "We have not closed the doors completely to that type of communication."

Smith said he has picked the secret five-man squad that would carry out the execution if the Utah Board of Pardons at its Dec. 6 meeting upholds Gilmore's death sentence for killing a motel clerk during a holdup last summer.

The board, originally scheduled to consider the matter the day after Gilmore's suicide try, could commute his sentence, but its chairman has indicated this is unlikely if Gilmore asks for death.

Meanwhile, the Utah State Bar Commission was to consider a complaint against Gilmore's attorney, Dennis Boaz, at a meeting today.

The bar's executive committee earlier said it would take no action on Boaz after informal complaints that he breached legal ethics by having a financial interest in Gilmore's fate. Boaz has acknowledged he plans to write about the case and has already accepted $250 from a British reporter whom he allowed, against prison rules, to talk to Gilmore by telephone.

Boaz again reversed his position on Gilmore's execution Thursday, apologizing to his client for a national television interview in which he said he could no longer support the state execution.

Warm air hits Midwest

By The Associated Press Temperatures in the 50s were forecast today for the Midwest, where readings soared Tuesday into the upper 70s, about 20 degrees above seasonal marks.

Topeka, Kan., equaled the day's record high of 79, while St. Joseph, Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo., with readings in the mid and upper 70s, set new daily high records.
